To continue to expand services, Mason added that another physician, Andrea Gault, a board certified doctor of osteopathy, will begin at the clinic on August 1.

An update on the health center's new building, a 10,000-square foot facility including a lab and X-Ray capabilities, to be constructed at the north end of town, will also be given during the open house.

Kenny Houck, project coordinator, said the new clinic is scheduled to be completed by November 2004.

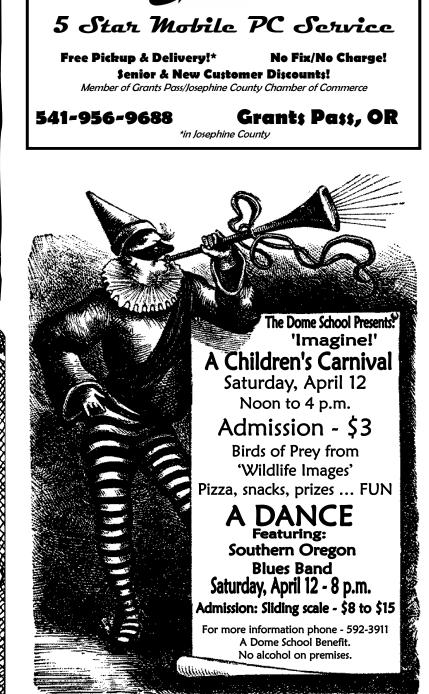

The city of Cave Junction, he noted, agreed to sponsor a state Community Development Block Grant which would pay for the extension of water and sewer lines to the new site.

He added that there are also plans to ask Josephine County to sponsor another block grant to provide funds for other purposes.
