Landfill fees provide grants for recycling

For the 13th year, the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) is offering solid waster reduction, recycling and household hazardous waste grants to area governments statewide. All grant monies come from fees charged for dumping garbage at landfills throughout the state.

The year's focus is commercial waster prevention and reuse. DEQ will give preference points for focus-area projects that have measurable results. "Commercial" includes stores, offices, restaurants, warehouses, schools, colleges, universities, hospitals, and other nonmanufacturing entities, but does not include other manufacturing or residential-based businesses. manufacturing or processing activities.

Any area government in Oregon responsible for solid waster management is eligible to apply, including cities, counties, metropolitan service districts, tribes, sanitary districts and county service districts.

DEQ expects to announce grant recipients in January 2004.

Dreams are the touchstones of our characters.
