Jokes for the young at heart

Yes, I'm a senior citizen:

I'm the life of the party. Even if it lasts until 8 p.m.

I'm good at opening childproof caps. With a hammer.

I'm usually interested in going home before I get to where I was going.

I'm awake many hours before my body allows me to get up.

I'm smiling all the time because I can't hear what people say to me.

I'm quite good at telling stories. Over and over and over.

I'm aware that other people's grandchildren are not as cute as mine.

I have a lot of care: long-term care, eye care, private care and dental care.

I'm not grouchy; I just don't like traffic, waiting, crowds, lawyers, loud music, unruly kids, automobile commercials, Tom Brokaw, Dan Rather, barking dogs, politicians and a few other items that I can't remember.

Everything I can't find is in a secure place, I'm sure.

I'm wrinkled, saggy and lumpy. And that's just my left leg.

I'm having trouble remembering simple words such as ...

Aging is not for wimps, I've discovered.

I'm sure that they are making adults much younger these days. And when did they start letting kids become policemen?

Plus I'm wondering: If you're only as old as you feel, how could I be alive at 150?

Overall, I'm a walking storeroom of facts. It's just that I've lost the key to the door. (Editor's Note: The preceding was reprinted from a newsletter published by Illinois Valley Senior Center).

Landowners using shots to revive trees

An increase in tree mortality in some parts of the state has landowners scrambling to prevent further losses.

Unfortunately, some landowners are willing to try just about anything...even if it means giving their trees a shot at an expense that can run into thousands of dollars.

"The shot consists of an injection of insecticide that a few individuals are marketing as a means to kill bark beetles," said Dave Overhulser, Oregon Department of Forestry forest entomologist.

"Unfortunately, injecting trees with insecticides is not effective against the insects because it moves into the foliage where it accumulates. None of the material is actually transferred laterally into the cambium or inner bark of the tree where bark beetles or flatheaded fir borers feed."

Essentially, then, this practice is a waste of money. A big waste of money if you consider that some landowners are being persuaded to treat several acres of trees on their property in this fashion. "The U.S. Forest Service has conducted several studies on the trunk injection of insecticides, and in all of these studies they have been ineffective at preventing bark beetle attacks on trees," warned Overhulser. Overhulser advises forest landowners to contact their service forester or Oregon State University Extension Office to get advice on how to manage affected trees.
