crashed, deputies searched the area, but whoever was driving got away.

The vehicle was impounded. JCSO did not release the caliber of weapon used in the shootings.

In connection with checking the residence at 475 O'Brien Road, deputies found equipment and chemicals used to make methamphetamine.

The drug aspect is not listed by JCSO as a possible reason for the shootings.

JCSO said that Coddington was armed with a handgun, and that he shot the two men after an argument.

Coddington is described as "armed and dangerous."

He stands 6-0 and weighs 160 pounds. He has brown hair and blue eyes.

Anyone with information about the suspect's location should phone (541) 474-5123, or 911.

I.V. Citizens Patrol defines 'no gun' rule

Members of I.V. Citizens Patrol (IVCP) want to make one fact crystal clear: They are not armed.

During a meeting on Monday night, Oct. 6 in the Junction Inn, it was noted that rumors indicate IVCP members carry firearms. But such is not the case, it was stressed.

Members said that there are some merchants and others patrolling on their own, who are not members of IVCP, and who carry firearms.

The grass-roots IVCP began a few weeks ago to help stem the tide of vandalism and burglaries in and around Cave Junction. The bylaws specifically state that not only are members not to carry firearms, but they are to stay in their vehicles and make no physical contact during their patrols.

The sole goal is to serve as eyes and ears for suspicious persons and circumstances and notify the Josephine County Sheriff's Office.

Oregon lawmakers say 'No' to billions in taxes

In a landslide vote taken by members of the Oregon Republican Party Central Committee, delegates from all throughout the state voted 86-6 in opposition to the billion dollar tax increase recently passed by the Legislature.

"This vote sends a strong message to the governor and lawmakers that Oregonians are not going to stand for more taxes, especially during a recession," said party chairman Kevin Mannix after the results were announced last week.

Ballots were sent earlier this month asking delegates: "Shall the Oregon Republican Party Central Committee oppose adoption of the tax increase contained in HB 2152?" Mannix, according to the central committee, has been promoting the referendum to give taxpayers a chance to vote on the largest tax increase in Oregon history because as he put it, "The political elitists don't want people to exercise their democratic right, and I want to make sure Oregonians have a voice in the process."

In August, the committee voted unanimously in support of a resolution urging legislators to hold the line on taxes.

The resolution read in part, "We recognize less revenue demands less spending. We further maintain that excessive taxation can be detrimental to economic develop-

Hundreds of grass-roots Republican volunteers have been out collecting signatures in their neighborhoods during the past few weeks.

Mannix is encouraged by the groundswell of support for the referendum which is, "motivating folks to get involved and do something to show their frustration with the Legislature and the governor."

Referendum organizers have until Nov. 25 to gather approximately 50,000 signatures.

The party joins several other organizations throughout the state working on the referendum.

Mannix said that he is excited about working with the Taxpayer Defense Fund, led by Russ Walker of Citizens for a Sound Economy.

"Russ and his team have done a great job putting together this campaign, the ORP will do all we can to help them," he said.

As the group spearheading the campaign, it has established a new web site and toll-free phone number to provide more information: www.stoporegontax.com, 1-888-No-On-Tax.

The Taxpayers Association of Oregon also has been actively involved in the referendum.

It can be reached at www.oregonwatchdog.com or (503) 603-9009.

Alleged meth lab uncovered in CJ

While serving a search warrant on Sept. 20 at 436 Old Stage Road in Cave Junction, detectives found chemicals including acids, red phosphorous and methamphetamine paste and chemical residue associated with manufacture of the illicit drug methamphetamine.

Josephine Interagency Narcotics Team (JOINT) also said that residents of 438 Old Stage Road, Randy Malm and Lisa Hazzard, were utilizing a cabin on an adjacent property (owned by a relative of Malm's) at 436 Old Stage Road in the manufacture process. The majority of the illicit chemicals were found at this location.

Also arrested was Edward Box, who came to the property during the service of the search warrant with a small quantity of methamphetamine and marijuana.

While serving the search warrant, Donald Thomas confronted officers and attempted to assault one of the detectives, JOINT said.

Waldo resident understands the fear and uncertainty of the possibility of having cancer.

Two years ago she found a lump in her breast. Doctors removed it to do a biopsy, but the growth was lost before it could be tested. It could have been cancer but Forbing will never know if it was.

She noted she doesn't quite understand that in an area where a large number of people are either battling cancer, are cancer survivors, or know someone with cancer, there isn't more support for her.

That's why she challenging anyone to step up and join her on the walk. If she can do it, she said, anyone can.

"This is a great cause," she said. "Anyone, including men, can get breast cancer."

Injury and recovery has also been a big part of her adult life.

Twenty years ago she fell into a ravine and severely injured her back and hips. Doctors told her she would never walk again. But with strength and determination she overcame that prognosis.

Even if no one from I.V. will participate in the walk, Forbing is hoping they will feel compelled to help in another way.

Donations are needed for equipment, transportation and supplies during the trip. Forbing must raise $2,000 to do the walk.

An account has been set up for Forbing at Home Valley Bank. Donations can be made to the JoAnne Forbing 3-day walk account. There are also T-shirts at area Home Valley branches for survivors and loved ones of those who have died of cancer to sign.

"Don't ever say no to any challenge," Forbing said. "I have to keep fighting. I can't give up."

Airport book earns award

The Oregon Chapter of the American Planning Association (OAPA) has selected Oregon Dept. of Aviation's "Airport Land Use Compatibility Guidebook," to receive the 2003 Professional Achievement in Planning Award.

The award was presented to Dept. of Aviation employee and guidebook project manager, Gary Viehdorfer, at the Oregon Planning Institute in Eugene.

The "Oregon Airport Land Use Compatibility Guidebook" serves as a critical primer on compatible land uses around airports and is a vital step in providing understanding and information in the developing area of land use compatibility to protect the future of airport environs.

The guidebook is a free publication from Dept. of Aviation.

Wherever man goes to dwell, his character goes with him.
