S.O. Guild major 'do' Saturday

The Southern Oregon Guild will hold a general members meeting and dinner Saturday, May 22 at the county building, 102 S. Redwood Hwy. in Cave Junction.

The meeting will begin at 5 p.m.; dinner following.

Besides Guild members; artists and artisans interested in joining can attend.

"Meet the members, eat dinner, and find out more about the Guild," said the organization. People should bring their own beverages.

Jerry Work, president, said, "This will be an important session for all the Guild members, as we will plot out the programs and member services people want to see the Guild sponsor over the next year."

Members will vote on submissions by members designing a graphics identity for the Guild. The winning design will receive a cash prize.

Artists and artisans who live in Illinois Valley, as well as the Grants Pass, Medford, and Brookings areas, can come meet members in a social setting and learn about Guild programs being planned to help artists become more commercially successful with their art or craft.

DMV Tip

"Once you start drinking, your resistance becomes weaker," noted Oregon Driver and Motor Vehicle Services (DMV).

"Setting a limit or pacing yourself are poor alternatives at best," the agency said. "Your ability to exercise good judgment is one of the first things affected by alcohol."

"Even if you have tried to drink in moderation, you may not realize to what extent your skills have suffered from alcohol's fatiguing effects," said DMV.

Correction

In the May 12 issue of the "Noose," the name of the owner of a home that burned in O'Brien was incorrect. The article listed the owner as Mark Crutcher. It actually is Mark Crutcher.
