The I.V. Lions have contributed to the city and valley in ways too numerous to mention.

I would ask the city to think long and hard before breaking the agreement that was made.

Dislikes salvage From Russell Ehrman Cave Junction

I'm just an ordinary citizen who lives in Illinois Valley. I'm no politician, but I have a nose and I smell something rotten.

I'm talking about the forest service and its salvage logging plan. I remember the Biscuit Fire. I choked on smoke for weeks. But the stink of the forest service plan is worse.

I could endure a few weeks of smoke, and cheer on the brave firefighters who fought tirelessly to control the fire.

But I cannot and will not stomach an endless parade - thousands of log trucks - carrying our forests out on their backs and stealing our wilderness. That wilderness is the very reason I live here.

I know the forests have managed for tens of thousands of years without our help. I know that what the Bush Administration, um, forest service, is proposing has nothing to do with real science, real forestry or real facts. I know a political agenda when I smell it, and I for one am tired of their lies.

When it comes down to it, the old-growth forests and roadless areas are critical to the quality of life and future eco-tourism.

The wild and scenic areas provide us with one of the most beautiful places to live and are the homes of countless endangered species, including the wild salmon.

Leave it alone and let it recover. This is not a logging supermarket, open to the highest bidder. It's my home.

Church News

St. Patrick of the Forest Catholic Church

On 15th Sunday in Ordinary Time, we will read the story of the Good Samaritan from Luke, which was an answer to a law scholar's question, "And who is my neighbor?"

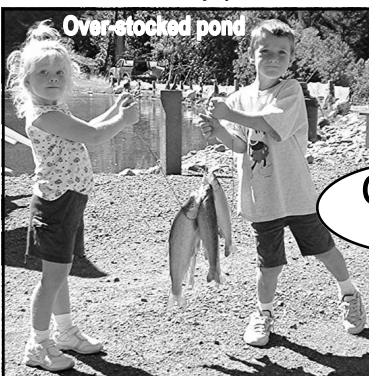

Two people had passed by a robbery victim and offered no aid.

The Good Samaritan stopped and cared for the victim in a remarkable way.

The scholar was directed, "Go and do likewise."

Without doing anything, things can sometimes go more smoothly just because of our peaceful presence.
