*American Medical Response was assisted with an accidental overdose case on Junction Avenue at 9:41 a.m.

*In the 3000 block of Caves Hwy., a man said that a cell phone and cigarettes were taken from his unlocked car.

*Larry A. Thiessen, 57, was cited and released at the Page Mt. Snow Park on a charge of DUII.

*Due to a misunderstanding, it was incorrectly reported that a woman was walking along Eight Dollar Road carrying a dead baby. The child actually had died about a week earlier, and was not being carried.

*Because of problems with noise and juvenile people, a woman on S. Old Stage Road dialed 911.

*Shelley R. Hulst, 37, was arrested and jailed on Eight Dollar Road under a warrant charging failure to appear (FTA) on an original charge of second-degree PCS.

*No injuries were reported from a two-vehicle crash on W. Watkins Street after one man said that his brakes locked up in connection with a vehicle that pulled out from a red light.

*Somebody was blocking access to the campground at the green bridge on Eight Dollar Road, but the vehicle was not towed, as the owner showed up.

*An employee at Oregon Caves National Monument reported a "suspicious incident" because two Russian men left a tour group. They subsequently rejoined their group, and the complainant was told that a charge of criminal trespass could not be enforced.

*Because he was speeding, a driver, 18, was warned at Page Mt. Snow Park at 5:35 p.m.

*After leaving her wallet in a shopping cart in a CJ store, a woman said that it was missing.

Monday, Sept. 20

*Some $100 cash and 20 toy motorcycles and cars were reported missing from a Finch Road address. The suspect named by the victim was to contact an officer.

*Because a female friend of a female complainant was dating someone's estranged husband, a woman was phoning a Selma business and yelling obscenities on the parking lot. She also put her head through a window at the business, according to the complainant, who wanted her to be "trespassed."

*Someone caused approximately $200 damage by cutting the telephone lines at Siskiyou Community Health Center.

*It appeared that a reported kidnapping of a girl at Jubilee Park was actually a father telling the girl to get in a vehicle.

*Information about a stalking situation was provided a woman at the I.V. Substation.

*Someone was trying to cash checks on an account closed 10 years ago, said a woman, who noted that the possible suspect had access to her CJ home.

*There was a complaint that two teen-age boy pedestrians made no effort to get off the roadway at Caves Hwy. and Holland Loop.

Tuesday, Sept. 21

*Around 6:14 a.m. someone complained that a small truck was moving slowly on Hay's Hill and that it's rear lights were flickering.

*Emergency personnel responded to the Cave Junction Post Office after it was reported that two people inside a car with the engine running could not be roused. It turned out they were resting and waiting for a tow truck.

*Nicole A. McArthur, 37, was arrested at the I.V. Substation by a parole officer on a charge of parole violation, and taken to county jail in Grants Pass.

*Hit-and-run in Downtown CJ was reported by a woman, who said that two people in a red pickup truck backed into her vehicle and left. Damage was listed at less than $1,000.

*Neither damage nor crime were determined after a call that a man was causing domestic violence on Fir Drive.

*"Vicious dogs" chased a man on Cascade Drive, and he had to beat them away with a stick, the man's wife said. She said it's a continuing problem.

*Robert L. Pendleton, 30, was arrested at the I.V. Substation on a charge of parole violation, and taken to county jail.

*The possibility of a restraining order was considered by a woman who said that her ex-boyfriend was following her and at times chasing her in his vehicle in Cave Junction.

*Because a flatbed trailer was parked on a lot, someone thought it might be stolen. It wasn't.

*Several "suspicious men" were hanging around the rear of a CJ business after being told to leave. They were gone again when a deputy arrived.

*Four people have been sleeping in a car on the CJ Post Office parking lot, and the postmaster wanted them gone.
