DOWNTOWN VANDALISM - Apparently the village idiot was on the loose some time late Tuesday, Nov. 23 or early Wednesday, Nov. 24. Southern Oregon Guild opens Downtown CJ store

Illinois Valley-based Southern Oregon Guild has been awarded its first grant since becoming a 501(c)3 organization.

Josephine County Cultural Coalition awarded the Learning Through Art project of the Illinois River Valley Arts Council $1,450 to support the Day of the Dead Art program in 2005.

Penny Niemi, Cate Bendorck and Kathy Nelly accepted the award check at a public presentation Nov. 17.

The Southern Oregon Guild is now the proud owner (renter) of a Downtown Cave Junction store front for its new Technical Services Center.

The focus of the center is to provide needed services, (digital imaging, photography, on-line auctioning, shipping, recycled print cartridges, grant writing, web management, etc.) for members and the public.

Members will offer a Christmas Bazaar for gift sales between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

"We blasted off by opening the doors during the I.V. Art Walk Nov. 11," said the Guild. "It was a grand party, and we met lots of great local people, Grants Pass visitors and even Eugene visitors, who all gave us supportive feedback about the need for this kind of endeavor."

Once the holidays are concluded, and the Christmas Bazaar finished, the primary purpose of the store will take precedence: to offer services.

Between now and then the Guild will finalize the use and staffing policies and do some interior and exterior prep work.

Donations of shelving, display structures, lighting, tables and the like are sought.

Christmas tree permits available from USFS, BLM

Enjoy the great outdoors while keeping a Christmas tradition alive.

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and U.S. Forest Service in S.W. Oregon are selling personal-use Christmas tree permits through a combined program to serve communities.

The permit tags are $5 each and can be purchased from any Medford or Coos Bay BLM office or any Rogue River-Siskiyou National Forest office. Permits are also sold at local vendors; phone the forest service for more information.

Trees can only be harvested on BLM or forest service land covered under the permit.

grounds, tree plantations, within 200 feet of state highways, and other prohibited areas. The tags must be attached to trees during transport.

For more information about the permits or office business hours, contact the nearest BLM or forest service office.

"Your safety is our concern," said the agencies.

"Before leaving home, check weather and road conditions; carry needed equipment like a saw, gloves, warm clothing, and tire chains; and notify others of your planned trip into the forest."

The following stipulations will always apply:

*A permit is required for the harvest of each tree.

*Trees can only be taken on public land where allowed by this permit.

*Do not harvest trees in wilderness areas, national monuments, wild and scenic rivers, campgrounds, developed areas, fenced or posted tree plantations, within 200 feet of state highways, or on private property.

*Permits or trees cannot be resold.

*Cut only trees that are less than 12 feet tall. The tree should be cut as close to the ground as possible, and not more than 12 inches above the ground. Cut your tree only if there is another tree within 12 feet of it.

*After harvesting your tree, validate the permit by cutting out the year and date, and attaching the permit to your tree before transporting it.

*Respect all road and area closures.
