IVHS food service dishes up a variety of tasty treats

By CHRISTINA HILL Correspondent

It may not be five-star dining, but for Illinois Valley High School students, a variety of tasty foods await them daily in the cafeteria.

"Four years ago, Sodexho took over the lunch program for Three Rivers School District (TRSD), said Dianna Kihs, Food Service manager at I.V. High.

"They've made a lot of changes," she said. "They're really into eye appeal and advertisement. They put in a lot of posters and menu boards so kids can see what's being served.

"Kids come through and make their choices," said Kihs. "With the old program, cooks would put food on a tray and the students would have to take it; and if they didn't like it, they were stuck or they would waste it."

Kihs starts her day at 5:30 a.m. when she cooks and serves breakfast by herself for approximately 150 students. For lunch, the whole cafeteria crew comes in, and together they serve around 300 students, she said

"With the new program, students choose what they want to eat," Kihs explained. "It's kind of like the food court at a mall. We have different stations, like the grill and the market item set up, and they come through and choose what they want."

And, she said, there's something for everyone, even those with the most discerning taste.

"They have nine choices for breakfast and 13 choices for lunch," she said, "including a huge salad bar. chicken sandwiches; madeto-order deli sandwiches, just like Subway; several choices of pizza, hot dogs, polish dogs, hamburgers and fresh fruits and vegetables," Kihs said.

"It's better for them," she noted, "because they're not taking food they don't want and wasting it."

Besides preparing and serving breakfast, Kihs also handles all the computer work, paperwork and money-handling for the cafeteria.

"We have a computer set up, and when kids come through the line, they enter their ID number and it shows up on my screen if they are on the free lunch program or if they need to pay," Kihs explained.

According to Kihs, the cost for students is $2, and the cost for staff is $3.

Kihs, who was "born and raised here" is in her 25th year of working for TRSD, and in her "fifth or sixth year" of working in her current position.
