Timely Tips

Why spend money to heat water while you're at work, sleeping or on vacation? Get a water heater timer at a hardware store (costs around $20), and program it so it only runs during the times you're at home and awake. You'll reduce your utility bills by quite a bit.

When doing laundry, don't wrap towels or sheets around the agitator. If they get tangled, they won't wash properly and will put stress on gears of the machine. Place them on one side of the tub instead. Spread them around with other articles so your tub won't be off balance.

Place damp paper towels in your microwave and turn it on high for 10 seconds. This makes your microwave easy to clean.
