Hobo POO views due by July 20

Comments are needed by Wednesday, July 20, as the U.S. Forest Service wants ideas, issues, and concerns about the Hobo South Fork mining project.

A plan of Operations (POO) was submitted to Illinois Valley Ranger District in 1995 for placer mining with hand tools on less than 1/2 acre.

Ron Spears proposes to mine gold on his South Fork #3 ORMC 156739 claim located in T39S R09W in the east half of the north quarter of section 18 on South Fork Canyon Creek in the Josephine Creek watershed.

He proposes the use of hand tools, rocker box, and a sluice box for recovery of high-bench placer materials. Additionally a 20-inch impact mill, and a propane kiln (for fire assays) are proposed for gold processing. Prospecting activities will include small amounts live and dead vegetation removal, hand digging of a sample hole, stockpiling of overburden, intermittent winter use of South Fork Canyon Creek for sluicing operations, and reclamation of the affected area.

No more than 20 cubic yards of material will be explored per year. Access will be limited to existing road FS #5300011. Mining is proposed year-round and includes support facilities that can support survival during harsh winter conditions. The proposed camp and operations site are previously affected by historic mining activities.

A plan of Operations (POO) was submitted to the Illinois Valley Ranger District on March 1, 2005; and a site visit was agreed upon with the operator on June 7. The project Area is located within Riparian (RR) and Late Successional Reserves. (LSR).

Existing vegetation that would be removed includes two small green trees (one tan oak and one Douglas fir less than 8 inches in diameter), several shrubs, two brunt snags, and one 30-inch diameter Douglas fir infested with quinine conch deemed a hazard tree by the operator to the proposed camp site.

Comments can be sent to District Ranger Pam Bode, 26568 Redwood Hwy., Cave Junction, OR 97523. E-mail comments can be sent to hjubas@fs.fed.us. For further information contact Howard Jubas, minerals technician, (503) 471-6760.

'Beyond Walls' art show through Aug. 24 at RCC

Paintings by Irena Kononova will be shown through Aug. 24 at the Rogue Community College Wiseman Gallery.

In "Beyond the Walls," Russian-born Kononova overlaps architectural elements and landscape to provoke viewers into contemplating the ever-widening gap between natural and manmade worlds.

Wiseman Gallery is on the RCC Redwood Campus, 3345 Redwood Hwy. approximately 5 miles west if Grants Pass on Hwy. 199. The gallery is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays; and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesdays.
