Edith Violet Phillips

Visitation for Edith Violet Phillips, 97, of Cave Junction, who died Saturday, July 16, 2005 at Three Rivers Community Hospital in Grants Pass, will be Monday, July 25 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Illinois Valley Funeral Home Chapel.

A memorial service will follow at 1 p.m. Afterward, the family will hold a private interment at Laurel Cemetery in Cave Junction.

Mrs. Phillips was born Edith Violet Felt on May 17, 1908 in Minneapolis, Minn. to Hallie (Casey) and Peter Frederick Franklin Felt. In 1911 she traveled with her parents via covered wagon to Bosano, Alberta, Canada, where she lived with the Blackfoot Indians for three years.

Her family returned to Minneapolis in 1914; moved to Anoka, Minn., and Montana, finally settling in Portland, Ore. in 1919.

She attended Franklin High School there, where she learned to play violin. In 1923 she formed a country dance band that played at engagements in around the Portland area for the next 11 years.

In 1927 she met Alvin Jesse Phillips, while auditioning him as a tenor banjo player for her band. They were married July 14, 1928 in Portland.

In 1935 they moved to Canby to start a box factory. In 1941 they moved to Terrebonne, where they owned an 80-acre ranch. In 1944 they moved to Crescent City, Calif., and owned and operated Crescent City Machine Works, where she worked as office manager. She also played her violin for numerous events.

She was active in Daughters of the Nile. She also was an accomplished carpenter, and in 1945 built the family home in Crescent City from the ground up.

In July 1963 she and her husband purchased the 100-acre Fort Briggs Ranch on Holland Loop and raised thoroughbred race horses, Appaloosa horses, and cattle.

She was a member of Illinois Valley Grange 370. In 1986 she divorced her husband of 58 years, and in 1989 sold the ranch and retired.

Due to ill health she moved to Fairview Transitional Center in 2000.

She is survived by her daughter, Peggy Phillips, of Cave Junction; a granddaughter, Sharran Blacksmith, of Sparks, Nev.; four grandsons, Kendell Phillips, of Cave Junction, Kerby Phillips, of Kerby, and Robert Hodges and David Hodges, of Palmer, Alaska.; 11 great-grandchildren; and nine great-great-grandchildren

She was a member of the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Cave Junction since 1970, and volunteered with the denomination's field ministry.

Her hobbies included crocheting, playing board games, driving and traveling, and fishing at Lake Selmac.

Timber sale blocked by felled trees

Using chainsaws to cut logged timber, a group calling itself Wild Siskiyou Action (WSA) has erected a "log cabin fortress" to block access to the Hobson Timber Sale near Galice.

The group also used boulders to cut off "vehicle access to an area now referred to by many as the 'Siskiyou Free State,'" according to a news release.

WSA added: "An unusual new form of tree sit has been built in a unit of the sale that connects many trees together across multiple acres with a rope-work network that suspends an activist in midair while preventing any trees from being felled in the area without risking the life of the suspended person."

The Hobson Sale is part of the Biscuit Fire salvage logging from the wildfire that occurred during 2002.

Chamber notes visitors; golf tourney Aug. 27

In June, only one less person visited the Illinois Valley Information Center in 2005 vs. the same month last year.

Last month's total was 2,588. I.V. Chamber of Commerce directors were told during their meeting Tuesday, July 12 in Wild River Brewing & Pizza Co. in Cave Junction.

Chamber office manager Dulcie Moore also advised the board that there now are 94 paid members. She continues to send relocation packets to individuals and businesses requesting them from out-of-state.

The board also was reminded that the second annual I.V. Chamber Golf Tournament is set for Aug. 27 at Laurel Pines in Cave Junction. Those who want to field teams or sponsor holes can phone Director Vicki Gill, event chairman, at SOFCU, 592-3191.
