ment for completing fuels reduction around your own house. If you already receive assistance from certain county or state agencies, there's a chance that up to 100 percent of the cost to hire a contractor could be covered.

Did you know that most building materials that enclose our families, pets, livestock, neighbors and friends that have enabled us to comfortably colonize the Illinois Valley can be even more flammable and toxic than a forest fire? That means such fires could burn longer, hotter, and emit horribly toxic fumes that could harm what is dear to us. Another concern is the spread of fire from our homes to the forests we all enjoy.

Did you know that you could be liable for the cost to put out a wildfire? In other words, it is our responsibility not only to protect ourselves from wildfire, but to protect our forests from carelessness and neglect by cleaning up and following seasonal burning restrictions in the area on which we dwell.

With this mind, many locals have created a "defensible space" around their homes and outbuildings by removing and reducing flammable materials. It offers a better chance to make a stand, or worse case, evacuate. It also gives firefighters incentive to "stick it out" when the fire gets hot.

Cleaning roofs and gutters, raking leaves and needles, and installing wire mesh in eave openings seem to be a good place to start, but most of our rural residents realize that the yearly time invested is somewhat more extensive.

Those of us nestled deeply in the woods can relate to the tremendous growth that shrubs and trees parade each year, thanks to warm summers followed by the mild, yet wet seasons that follow. This means a little more work for those of us who enjoy living in the woods. Just as we weed our garden each year, a certain amount of thinning and pruning around our space in the forest is necessary and acceptable.

As mentioned before, certain neighbor-

Smoke alarms save

By ILLINOIS VALLEY FIRE DISTRICT

Do you have smoke detectors in your home? When did you last check the battery?

Did you take it out because it was beeping? That tells you need a new battery.

How much is your life and the life of your loved ones worth? Smoke detectors do save lives, as an early warning that smoke is in the house.

Do you have fire drills with the family and pets? Do you know how they will respond to the sound? Do you know where they will go?

Do you have a fire extinguisher in your home?

If you need help with these matters or have other questions, phone I.V. Fire District: 592-2225.

hoods within the valley are pooling resources and getting organized as a group. The thinking is: United, they have a chance to stand. Divided the chance is diminished. Does your family have an evacuation plan? Where would you take livestock and pets? Is there a safe place nearby that could accommodate everyone trying to escape if only one way in/out exists (preferably a large irrigated meadow?) Who has the best-producing well or access to a pond or creek?

A recent National Fire Plan grant received and administered by the Illinois Valley Community Development Organization (IVCDO), with the help of I.V. Fire District helped offset the costs of hazardous fuel reduction for several Selma residents. Approximately 41 households participated in the "Thompson Creek" project that comprised approximately 208 acres of fuel reduction work. Work included defensible space around dwelling areas, thinning along roads and driveways, and shaded fuel breaks in key locations throughout the neighborhood.

A key ingredient to the success of this project was the willingness of the neighborhood to get organized, have local meetings, and collaborate with an enthusiastic and supportive network of folks who know what needs to be done and how to go about it.

Recognition is due participants within the project area, I.V. Fire District, Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, Oregon Dept. of Forestry, Josephine County Integrated Fire Plan partners, Josephine County Planning/GIS, Jackson/Josephine Job Council (especially those young women and gentleman who took the initiative to get a summer job locally and learn more about the woods), Selma Community Center, Lomakatsi Restoration Project, Dennis Page Forestry, and Surgeon General Steve Schiffman.

There will be an open house at 5:30 p.m. and a meeting at 6:30 to discuss the Deer Creek Fire and how to protect your property on Wednesday, Sept. 28 at the Selma Fire Station, 18455 Redwood Hwy.
