

Allen Gulch hike set Saturday, March 10

By SCOTT JORGENSEN
IVN Staff Writer

Bill Gray, a valley biologist, will lead a hike through the Allen Gulch area on Saturday, March 10.

Gray has conducted plant surveys around Illinois Valley for several years, and hikes the area two to four times a year.

The Allen Gulch area is included in the proposed East Fork Illinois Bureau of Land Management (BLM) logging project. Gray said that he wants to show the areas that would be affected by the proposed plan.

"I thought it would be good for people to see this as soon as possible while they still have a little bit of time to perhaps give input to the BLM if they choose to," Gray said.

BLM already has completed an environmental assessment on the East Fork proposal, but has yet to make a final decision on the project, Gray said.

"It sounds like they're probably going to make a decision within the next month or two," Gray said. "Anyone who's interested should have the opportunity to plug into this process and to make their views known, especially with an area as important as this area."

Gray said that some trees already are marked for cutting, which may concern some residents.

"There are some people in this community who feel like that is putting the cart before the horse," Gray said.

The hike will cover 3 to 4 miles of mostly level ground, Gray said. Participants should bring a sack lunch and clothing appropriate for the weather.

Hikers are to meet at 10 a.m. at the Siskiyou Project's lower parking lot in Takilma.

EXTENSIVE FLOODING, with water approximately 2-inches deep throughout Illinois Valley Senior Center, was discovered Tuesday morning, March 6. The apparent cause was a fire suppression sprinkler that somehow activated. Senior Center members were working to remove water which thoroughly soaked all areas, including newly installed carpet. The damage, for which there is insurance coverage, was being assessed, but other information was unavailable in time for this issue. (Photo by Dale Sandberg/IVN')

Obituaries

Anna Mae Richards

A memorial service in late spring will be announced for Cave Junction resident Anna Mae Richards, 86, who died at home Tuesday, Feb. 27, 2007.

"Anna Mae" was born on Sept. 26, 1920 in Lemmon, S.D. on a small rural farm ("a little house on the prairie.") She was raised by her aunt and uncle after her mother's death at her birth, and her father's death a few years later.

As a 17-year-old she arrived in Southern California to live with another aunt and uncle to earn her high school diploma. During her years in college she supported herself as a maid and nanny for several wealthy families in Brentwood, Calif. and surrounding areas.

She graduated with a bachelor of science degree from University of California at Santa Barbara, and earned her master's degree from University of Southern California at Los Angeles.

She moved to Cave Junction more than 27 years ago after retiring as a professor of physical education and department chairman at Santa Monica College in California.

She loved gardening (especially roses), golfing, riding horses, caring for her animals, and sharing her love and sense of humor with her friends and relatives. She was known for giving of herself to those needing a sympathetic ear or a shoulder to lean on. She believed in helping others to achieve their highest potential in life as a worthy cause.

One of her favorite phrases was, "Let your light shine unto others," and she always had a positive outlook on life. Taylor's Country Store on Saturday nights was a weekly highlight. She was a member of Illinois Valley Senior Center.

Surviving is her daughter, Nealane D. Riem, of Vancouver, Wash. She also leaves behind two grandchildren, and a son-in-law. Her property caretaker, Lonnie Bourgo, also is considered part of her family.

Mrs. Richards was preceded in death in 1992 by her ex-husband, Robert L. Calloway, whom she married in 1942; and her second husband, Neal D. Richards, on March 1, 1958, whom she wed in 1957 in Los Angeles; and all of her siblings.

Arrangements are being directed by Illinois Valley Funeral Home.

Walter Karniss

Walter Karniss, 94, of Cave Junction, died Wednesday, Feb. 28 at a convalescent center in White City.

A memorial service was held Tuesday, March 6 at St. Patrick of the Forest Catholic Church.

Illinois Valley Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Well, well ...

Nearly half of Americans rely on ground water for all or part of their water supply through privately owned household wells or ground-water supplied community systems.

With all those wells come lots of questions about proper well construction, maintenance, water quality and ground water protection.

Answers to many of these questions can be found at the National Ground Water Association Website, (www.wellowner.org).

It includes practical information on well basics, and how to find a water well contractor (Clouser Drilling in Illinois Valley).

Church Happenings

Seventh-day Adventist Church, Cave Junction

The Southern Oregon Women's Ministries Prayer Breakfast was a highlight during February.

Dr. Virginia Smith, specialist in early childhood development, spoke to an enthusiastic crowd of women. "Hearts and Flowers" was the theme, and the Scripture text was Psalm 147.

Saturday, March 3 was the International Women's Ministries Day of Prayer. Women participated throughout the morning worship service.

The "Prophecies of Hope for the American People" program with speaker Darrin Bartell of Amazing Facts will continue Thursday, March 8 at 7 p.m. with "History's Greatest Religious Cover-up!" in the Josephine County Bldg. in Cave Junction.

Friday night at 7 the title will be, "The Subject That Satan Hates." Saturday, March 10, the title will be, "The Longest and Most Amazing Bible Prophecy, Part 1." Monday, March 12, at 7 p.m. the subject will be, "The Longest and Most Amazing Prophecy, Part 2." Tuesday, March 13 at 7 p.m., "Bible Secrets to Good Health."

Each night the community is cordially invited to these free seminars. Door prizes, free Bibles, and other gifts are offered nightly.

An interesting Children's Program also is offered. The Bible alone is the guidebook used nightly. Don't miss a single night of this fascinating new series.

Good Shepherd Lutheran Church

In the Old Testament there was a covenant between God and Abraham, whose wife conceived in old age. God keeps his promises.

In the New Testament we still can rely on God's covenant through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Our sins are forgiven.

Youth group meets at 6 p.m. Tuesdays. Wednesdays at 7 p.m. the study continues on, "The Purpose-Driven Life."
