Critic's Choice
Thursday
10 p.m. on CBS

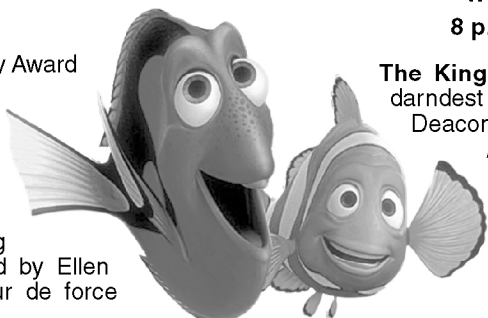

Shark: Let's hope this killer is one of those smooth-talking criminals. In the nail-biter "Trial by Fire" an armed man takes a courtroom full of people hostage. They include Sebastian and Raina and the guy they're prosecuting for murder. Both Sebastian and the killer try to talk the gunman down and keep everyone safe.

Friday
10 p.m. on CBS

NUMB3RS: Don (Rob Morrow) is seeing his therapist and learning that he has a problem with control. Ironically, with him occupied and unreachable, Megan must take control of the team's current crisis: the kidnapping of a music mogul's son. The boy's abductor has threatened to kill him if ransom isn't paid in an hour, so Charlie must act fast to solve the puzzle.

Saturday
8 p.m. on ABC

Finding Nemo: An Academy Award for best animated feature went to this dazzling 2003 box-office blockbuster from Pixar. A neurotic clownfish named Marlin teams up with a cheerful but scatterbrained blue tang fish named Dory — voiced by Ellen DeGeneres in a comic tour de force — to search for his son, who has been captured by a diver. Attention, you fine folks who brought us "Shark Tale": This is the way to do a fish story.

Monday
8:30 p.m. on CBS

The New Adventures of Old Christine: Don't you hate it when everything goes up except your pay? For Christine, it's the tuition at Ritchie's school. She and Richard (Clark Gregg) brainstorm ways to cut corners to keep him enrolled.

Tuesday
8 p.m. on CBS

NCIS: Chemical weapons — our worst nightmare. In "Sharif Returns," Gibbs and his team search for a biological weapon supply that's gone missing and discover it's in the hands of a known terrorist, who makes repeated phone calls threatening to unleash the material on several major cities. The team joins forces with Army Lt. Col. Hollis Mann to track him down before he can carry out his threats.

Wednesday
8 p.m. on CBS

The King of Queens: Kids draw the darndest things. In "Brace Yourself," Deacon's son draws a picture of Arthur (Jerry Stiller) with crooked teeth, prompting Arthur to talk Doug and Carrie (Kevin James, Leah Remini) into getting him braces.
