

Troopers rescue missing girl; warn of text contacts

A 16-year-old girl reported missing from near Sacramento was found by two Oregon State Police troopers near Grants Pass, and a man with her was to be charged by California authorities on a charge of kidnap with intent to commit rape, reported OSP.

The girl, said to have diminished mental capacity, was found on Interstate 5 in a car driven by David A. Faboo, 37, a resident of Hillsboro, Ore., said OSP.

Troopers had received information last week from Yuba County Sheriff's Office and Wheatland Police Dept. about the girl. OSP said that the girl used text messaging to contact a friend, and that the phone company helped locate her by "cell phone pings."

OSP said it's believed that the girl had corresponded with the suspect using text messaging. They urged that parents and guardians use special care to ensure that young persons do not become ensnared in unwanted relationships because of such contacts.

OSU gets natural health grant

Groundbreaking natural health research conducted by the Linus Pauling Institute at Oregon State University (OSU) at Corvallis has been recognized with a new five-year, $6 million grant from the National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM).

This support by NCCAM, an agency of the National Institutes of Health, will allow the OSU institute to build on some fundamental findings during the past five years, when it was one of the first two research organizations in the nation - along with Harvard University - to be designated as a center of excellence for research on complementary and alternative medicine.

OSP nabs meth, cocaine

Oregon State Police troopers, assisted by a narcotics detection canine, arrested a Happy Valley-area man and seized approximately 6 pounds of methamphetamine and 1.6 pounds of cocaine concealed in a vehicle during a Saturday, March 1 traffic stop on Interstate 5 near Medford.

At approximately 10:45 a.m. OSP troopers stopped a 2001 Honda Civic for a speed violation northbound on Interstate 5 near milepost 37. The driver, Manuel Martinez-Pardo, 24, gave troopers permission to search the vehicle.

With the assistance of an OSP narcotic detection canine, troopers found several packages of suspected narcotics. In total, approximately 6 pounds of methamphetamine worth an estimated $96,000 and 1.6 pounds of cocaine worth an estimated $15,000 were seized.

Martinez-Pardo was taken into custody and lodged at Jackson County Jail. He is charged with unlawful possession, delivery and manufacture of a controlled substance/cocaine; and the same charges in connection with methamphetamine.

OSP troopers from the Central Point Area Command office were involved in the initial stop. Follow-up investigation is being conducted by OSP Drug Enforcement Section detectives.

Good Shepherd Lutheran Church

In John 9 we read about a blind man cured by Jesus. This man became a witness for the savior, and a follower when he realized he is the son of God.

Today, we also can witness and follow Jesus. Do we have to be cured of an illness before this happens?
