RCC commencement includes 183 from Jo County

Rogue Community College celebrated its 37th annual commencement Saturday, June 14 in the Marjorie Holzgang Concert Bowl on the Redwood Campus in Grants Pass.

The ceremony honors students who completed certificates and degrees. This year’s Outstanding Citizen Award recipients – Bob & Barbara Bean – were honored as well.

During commencement, 401 students received a total of 432 degrees and certificates. Graduates earned 314 degrees and 118 certificates (27 students will receive two awards and two have earned three). Among the graduates, 263 (66 percent) are women and 138 are men. The two “most senior” grads are 65 and the youngest is 17. The average age is 31.

Nineteen students (approximately 5 percent) compiled a 4.0 grade-point average (GPA), with 161 (some 40 percent), earned GPAs of 3.5 or higher. The average GPA among all grads is 3.4. Forty-nine graduates are members of Phi Theta Kappa honor society.

Initiated in 1987, the RCC Outstanding Citizen award recognizes individuals who have provided distinguished service to the college and its community. Long-time residents of Grants Pass, the Beans have been involved in many community activities including the RCC Foundation, Rotary, and the Oregon Community Foundation.

Delivering the student commencement address were graduates Kenny Farmer and Suzan O’Larick. Kori Bieber, interim dean of Student Services, was master of ceremonies. Leading the faculty process was Dr. James Ford, who is retiring from the Science Dept., and Dr. Ann Trausch, Electronics Dept., who recently completed her doctoral studies. Lutz Kramer, retiring Humanities instructor, delivered the faculty greeting. Among the students honored were 207 from Jackson County, 183 from Josephine County, three from Douglas County and two from Klamath County.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the Student Center.

change old systems that no longer work.”

Steve Grasty, a Harney County judge, said, “Rural Oregon must be organized if we are to improve the social, economic and environmental challenges in our communities. These challenges have come forward from years of well intentioned but misguided decisions.”

The planning group discussed the structure of the two-day Congress and the creation of a report. “Unlike the ill-fated report of the Office of Rural Policy the planning group will see that the work of the Congress receives wide distribution,” it was stated.

A final planning meeting will be held in S.W. Oregon on July 24. The location will be announced.

Church News

St. Matthias Episcopal Church

Retired Bishop Sanford Z.K. “Sandy” Hampton and his wife, Mari, will be at the church in Cave Junction on Sunday, June 29 for a service beginning at 5 p.m., followed by a potluck.

On the same day at 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. they’ll be at St. Luke’s Episcopal Church in Grants Pass to celebrate services.

The Right Rev. Hampton has been welcomed by the Episcopal Diocese of Oregon to assist the diocesan bishop. He and his wife will be in Oregon for two weeks each month. They will visit various congregations to celebrate services and conduct diocese business.

The couple is based in Lake Oswego, and their permanent home is Anacortes, Wash.

During their visit to St. Matthias they’ll also be pleased to visit their son and daughter-in-law, Fred & Gabrielle Hampton, who own Hampton’s Rock Shop in Kerby, and their grandson, Baron.

“Bishop Sandy” formerly was rector of the parish in La Grande, Ore. “It’s wonderful to have them back in Oregon,” said their son.
