Deputies do right by kids

Josephine County Deputies are usually the first ones who come into contact when children are in harm's way. They are usually the ones that must remove them from what the children call home and place them with children's services. Since most of the deputies are parents themselves they know the tug on their own hearts and the fear in these children.

Deputies do not want to always be the ones the children think of as the bad guys, so they have decided to throw a Christmas Party with Santa for the 300 plus children in Josephine County who have been placed in the foster care system.

That being said, the deputies have launched a campaign to bring Christmas to these children. For that they will need community help. For more information please contact Shane Simon at 541-218-8278.
