Commissioners recognize senior companion volunteers

On April 12 the Senior Companions of Josephine County were recognized for their service to the community with a Proclamation of National Service Recognition Day by the Board of County Commissioners at the Anne Basker Auditorium in Grants Pass. Susan Hatch (center) of Cave Junction who serves the Illinois Valley is holding the Proclamation. Senior Companions are volunteers who help other seniors and adults with disabilities stay independent and living within their own homes. This group provides over 400 hours of service to Josephine County.

Grant applications available for visual artists at the Guild

Visual artists can pick up information and an application for a Haines & Friends Fund grant of $1,000 to $5,000 at the Southern Oregon Guild's Gallery and Art Center in the Belt Building in Kerby.

The Haines Fund will be awarding $70,000 total in this fourth year of its existence in Southern Oregon. Completed applications will need to be returned to the Guild no later than the application deadline of 5 p.m. Friday, June 30.

The fund supports artists, art organizations, and arts educators in support of the creation of artistic projects and/or art education. This might include original and new works of private and public art, but the fund is open to other innovative and creative ideas.

Artists may use the funds to purchase supplies and equipment or to cover personal expenses of the artist and/or their educational program. Artists often need extra support just to buy supplies, to try something new, or to bring art to groups that can benefit.

This is an opportunity to stretch yourself, to reach for the financial resources to do something you've only dreamed of so far. That could be a much larger work than you've done before, one that could benefit both you and your community. It could be repairing or purchasing equipment without which you can't move to the next level as an artist or arts educator. What are you dreaming about? What do you need in order to move ahead?

If you feel the application process is daunting, the Guild will help. Call the gallery at 541-592-5019 to arrange a meeting with Joyce Abrams, who will discuss the feasibility of your ideas with you and can coach you through the application process.

Abrams advised, "It's better to think, 'I wonder if I can' than 'I'm sure I can't'". She invites working artists to visit the Guild and explore the possibility of applying for this grant.

The Guild Gallery is located at 24353 Redwood Highway in Kerby.
