Obituaries

Michael "Cole" Kobe Teixeira died Tuesday, June 13, 2017 in a single car incident at 2:53 p.m. on Holland Loop Road in Cave Junction, Oregon. He was 29 years old. He was the beloved father of Shya Divine Teixeira; a loving partner to fiancée Eliza "beth" Pruitt and a friend to her son, Faolan Ferrandino.

Cole was born October 7, 1987 in Fall River, Massachusetts. Raised on the Atlantic Coast by wonderful parents, Christiano Teixeira, Jr. and Christine T. Teixeira; with brothers Peter, Danny, and Christian (C.J.) Teixeira; and sisters, Heather Seiver, Melanie Collura, Christina, Nickole, Breanna, Ariel, and Skylar Teixeira; and niece, Chloe Teixeira.

Raised with an intense love of all sports; playing hockey, football, basketball... and his favorites: soccer and baseball, with his dad Chris often coaching his baseball teams. Cole was a great athlete who enjoyed competition, yet maintained an inspiring attitude that earned the respect of his coaches and teammates. He remained a lifelong fan of Boston's Red Sox and The Patriots. He instilled the importance of sportsmanship into his son and attended all of Shya's soccer games. Cole never lost his love for sports, and continued playing third base for the Good Earth Organics Softball team.

and lyrics flowed through his veins. He found solace seated at the piano, found joy teaching Shya and Faolan the keyboard, and found a challenge teaching himself guitar.

Cole's overwhelming love for animals eventually lead him to becoming an avid vegetarian, and advocate for humane treatment of all animals. He truly felt most at home on the farm, gardening and caring for animals gave him a sense of purpose. He felt especially connected to and inspired by birds; above all else, he felt at peace watching or listening to the myriad of peacocks, ravens, owls, and hummingbirds around the farm. Holding a hummingbird, that he rescued, just before it flew away was an incredibly rare experience that he treasured... just one week before his tragic accident.

Cole was inspired by birds, for their freedom of flight, and he fell in love with the thrill of skydiving and also the quiet, peaceful ascent in a hot air balloon. The Sky was as limitless as he was. He had a brave and adventurous spirit... traveling to 54 countries in his 29 years. He loved the beauty of Earth, hiking and rock climbing to experience majestic views, and was eager for the next adventure. He loved the Water... SCUBA, deep water free diving, cliff jumping, and swimming in Oceans, Seas, Rivers, and Creeks all across the world. He took pleasure in the simple joy of swimming under the warm sun with friends or strangers, loved ones and the kids.

Cole inspired everyone he met, he was kind and open, full of love for everything under the sun, excited for life and the adventure of being alive.

A Memorial Service was held at the Illinois River Forks State Park June 20, 2017.
