"Near to God's Heart"

PATROL ...

*A petite, gray-haired woman wearing a multi-colored bandana drove her golf cart to a store in the 25600 block of Redwood Hwy. at 11:32 a.m. At first, she appeared to be intoxicated, but a store employee confirmed that the gal was not impaired; she was always very excitable and energetic. (60s are the new 40s.)

*The manager of a store in the 200 block of W. Watkins Street retrieved beef from a thief at 2:57 p.m.

Saturday, June 23

*Crooks broke into a gal's car two miles up Eight Dollar Road at 12:40 p.m. She saw her items near the side of the road, so she believed that the drivers of a red F150 pickup truck, a white Nissan Sentra, and a maroon Hyundai were involved. Her plan was to confront them, because she thought they were tweakers. She did not want assistance from JCSO; she just wanted to notify them of her bright idea.

*On June 20 an arborist was evaluating a hazardous tree in the 200 block of Ollis Road, but a resident was refusing to allow the tree specialist onto the property. They were barking up the wrong tree when they phoned JCSO, because this is a civil issue which needs to be addressed through park policies and the contract.

*A Glock 30 .40-caliber semi-automatic firearm was taken as evidence, and a criminal was arrested in the 100 block of Hogue Drive at 2:20 p.m. Fredrick Savage, 51, was detained in Jo Co Jail after a road rage incident when he fired a round into a vehicle with three occupants. Savage was charged with three counts of attempted assault and recklessly endangering another, first-degree criminal mischievous, and unlawful use of a firearm.

*A tall, skinny guy, another fellow, and a short, intoxicated woman were arguing and getting into folks' faces at Forks State Park at 3:17 p.m. One chap attacked the other with a baseball bat. Johnnie David Peters, 38, was detained in JoCo Jail for JCSO warrants for failure to appear for felony fourth-degree assault and misdemeanor contempt of court. The drunken gal and her sidekick are trespassed from the park for a year.

*Meanwhile on Elk Lane in Grants Pass, a damsel was convinced there was a burglary in progress in an office at her home at 11:14 a.m. She could hear music and a floor cleaner being operated, so she and her sisters went outside for safety. The brave gal was armed with a can of pepper spray, until she realized that the noise was an automatic floor vacuum. (Because burglars vacuum before they steal everything?)
