DRAWING OF IZAAK BY JASON

Like most brothers, Jason and Izaak Van Horn are separate brain hemispheres. Elder brother Jason, a first-year senior at the University of Oregon, is an artist majoring in painting. He is also a photographer and sculptor and hopes to do animation in the future. Izaak, a 1994 graduate of Astoria High School, is a scientist and spent the summer surveying glacier movements in the Arctic Circle with a select group of college and high school students from around the U.S. He began engineering studies at Oregon State University this term. Jason and Izaak are the sons of Phuong Van Horn and the late Jeffry Van Horn.
