

David Grigsby was the official 'paparazzo' for the 2000 season of Shanghai'd in Astoria. He is a truly get-in-your-face photographer, shooting fast and up close. He has been a "serious" cameraman for about three years. He was told he has 'the eye' for photography, which he interpreted as a talent for "point and shoot." He has his own studio, West Edge Photography in Astoria (2195 Coxcomb Dr.) yet is realistic enough to not quit his day job as an engineering technician for the City of Astoria, which he has done the past almost dozen years, and he lives at the top of Coxcomb Hill as caretaker for the Astoria Column. ~MPMc
