

NORTH COAST

TIMES EAGLE

JAN/FEBRUARY 2003

In a dark time the eye begins to see
~Theodore Roethke

VOL24NO4 50CENTS

RICHARD MILLHOLLAND

The poets might be right after all. The prospect of peace is more irrational than the dark brooding desire for murder each of us hosts like a malevolent gene. Humanity's penchant for sinister error, folly, mass psychosis and loathsome horror gives us our sense of humor, our appreciation of the comedy of inescapable death.

~MICHAEL McCUSKER