

The Southern Pacific Railroad Co. has reduced its force of shopmen 10 per cent on its lines south of Ashland and west of El Paso and Reno. One thousand men have been laid off. The pay of the men was also reduced from ten to nine hours, which is equivalent to 1000 men more. This is the largest reduction of employees the Southern has made since 1893.

The yearly agreement of the carriage manufacturing trades in San Francisco expired July 1, but some difficulty is being experienced in securing a renewal. The employees are willing to continue the present schedule of wages, but refuse to sign a contract.
