FAMOUS CLOTHING CO.

CORNER MORRISON AND SECOND STREETS

DOES YOUR WIFE USE A BROOM?

Of course she does, and she is competent of using either end of it, but the most important thing about the broom your wife uses is, does it bear the union label? If it does not, it is sure to be either a prison or scab-made broom, and your wife would be justified in using it on your head. Mr. Union Man, did you ever know that over half the brooms made in the United States are made in prisons by convicts? Well, whether you know it or not, it is so. Don't you think some one is to blame for this condition? It is up to you to make an investigation and see if your castle is being swept with a prison-made broom.

The majority of broom manufacturers that employ free labor use the Broom and Whiskmakers' union label, and there is no good reason why the merchants should not supply your wife with union label brooms. Brooms are used in every home, and there is no reason why every union man should not make it his business to find out if he is employing prison labor. It is up to you to instruct your wife, mother or sweetheart to insist upon having the union label on the next broom she buys. The Broommakers' label is round, about the size of a half dollar, printed on blue paper and placed under the wire at the finish of the broom. These labels are never pasted on the handle. Unfair and prison manufacturers are placing the words "Union Made" in one corner of their business label to fool the unsuspecting, so do not let your wife be fooled. None is genuine without the union label.

POLITICAL PLANS GROWING.

The political program of organized labor is progressing splendidly. Activity is being manifested by the unions throughout the country. In Chicago the representatives of 63 labor and reform organizations met in convention on April 8 and launched an organization, the Chicago Progressive Alliance.

The plan is to use the direct-nomination system to place trade unionists in nomination. Another reform to be worked for is a law suspending all business on the day of primary election and the regular election day so that the working people may fully and rationally exercise their sovereign power.

At Washington the Central Labor Union has voted to send a circular letter to every central labor union in the country, requesting that it "send a delegate to represent it before Congress, and thus let the lawmakers see that labor is in earnest."

The New York City Central Labor Council has taken steps to organize throughout the state to elect labor men to represent the interests of the wage earners.

In line with the above, President Gompers, in an interview in the Washington Times, says:

"The question is, how shall labor use its potential influence to accomplish its desire for legislation that will procure for us all the small modicum of justice that we have been appealing for for years? There is but one way open to us now, and that is to make labor's power felt in the elections. It has been said by the politicians that labor cannot unite; that before election labor will say what it is going to do, what candidates it will support, and make dire threats against the party in power, etc., but the politicians who are of that opinion now and try to delude themselves with the belief that we do not mean exactly what we said to the President, Speaker Cannon and Senator Frye about appealing to the conscience of the people will find out their mistake next November."

CHICAGO UNIONS GO INTO POLITICS.

Following the advice of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, the labor unions of Chicago have plunged into politics with a rousing convention at Brand's hall.

Plans were made for the capture of the Democratic primaries with the intention of securing delegates to the city, state and county conventions, pledged to vote for candidates who will represent the laboring class and who have the indorsement of the convention.

Amid cheering and prolonged applause, resolutions were read which condemned:

1. National graft and public robbery evidenced by the insurance and beef trust scandals where criminals are given immunity from punishment.
2. Railway scandals which involve even a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet.
3. Graft and booting among state and county officials which have led to disclosures showing shameful conditions at Kankakee and confessions of penitentiary crimes in the court house.

4. The election of a governor of Illinois who, as state's attorney, appropriated upward of a quarter of a million of dollars of public fines and who dictated as his successor a man who violated his pledge and connived at a setting aside of a public statute so that he might emulate his predecessor.

Three hundred delegates, representing 52 labor unions, were seated in the convention and the gallery was filled with spectators, all of whom were workingmen.

L. G. Humphrey and Marion Raish, two union carpenters of Peoria, Ill., were indicted for conspiracy, it being alleged that they levied a fine of $500 against the Wahlfeldt Manufacturing Company for employing woodworkers instead of carpenters, and attempted to establish a boycott when this was not paid.
