

WITH THE CAMERA MAN

Photo copyright International News Service.

GRANDSON OF THE FAMOUS GARIBALDI WOUNDED.
 Grandson of the famous Garibaldi, one of the famous brothers of Italy's heroic family, was injured recently while fighting at the front. Two members of the family have already been killed while fighting for France.

Photo copyright International News Service.

LEFT: NICOLA TESLA.
 Winner of the 1915 Nobel prize in physics, who has filed an application for a patent of an electric engine claimed to be able to destroy entire fleets, cities or armies by lightning bolts released by a lever.
RIGHT: SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY OF U. S.
 Wm. McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson, active in party councils.

Photo copyright International News Service.

BRITISH FIRST AID HOSPITAL.
 Remarkable photo of surgeon and attendants at work dressing the wounds of a disabled soldier in a British military first aid hospital close to the battle line in the Gallipoli peninsula.

Photo copyright International News Service.

Left: Yoshihito, Emperor of Japan. Japan has sold Russia huge quantities of munitions and arms. Right: General Kuropatkin, commander of the Russian forces, getting ready to strike in the Balkans.

Photo copyright International News Service.

WINNING A DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.
 Lieutenant Hughes swam from his submarine pushing the raft loaded with explosives during the night, in an attempt to blow up a Dardanelles railway viaduct.

Photo copyright International News Service.

Left: John Lind, President Wilson's representative who reported on Mexican affairs. Right: Major General Funston, United States commander in charge of the army forces on Mexican border.

Photo copyright International News Service.

CANADIANS IN TRAINING IN ENGLAND.
 Canadian cavalry training in England before leaving for the front. A specially prepared exercise track has been made with some easy jumps to accustom the men to the rough country at the front.

Photo copyright International News Service.

AMERICAN MINISTER TO BELGIUM AND MRS. WHITLOCK.
 Brand Whitlock and his wife returned to the United States for a short visit. His duties as American minister, while highly successful, have been particularly arduous during his stay in Belgium.

Photo copyright International News Service.

FRENCH OFFICERS QUESTIONING A GERMAN PRISONER OF WAR.
 After the late drive by the allied forces in Northern France among the many German prisoners taken several were questioned at length, giving much information as to the condition of German troops, food supply, etc.