

LABOR'S CANDIDATE FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

W. M. Davis, better known as "Pike," has been unanimously endorsed by the Central Labor Council, Building Trades Council and other unions of Portland, for Circuit Judge of Department 3.

Every union man in Portland is either acquainted with Mr. Davis or has heard of him. His time and services for the past twenty-five years have been given to union labor, and in recognition of this, the unions endorsed him, and wrote a letter notifying him of their hearty cooperation.

Judge Henry E. McGinn, who is at present Circuit Judge of Department 3, but who will not be a candidate for reelection, is strongly endorsing Mr. Davis as his successor. He has written an article for the State Pamphlet, in which he says that he has known him for twenty-five years; that Mr. Davis has tried a great many cases before him, and that he has recommended him to his friends and acquaintances, stating that, from his training, education and high sense of justice, he ought to be a fit man to occupy the position of circuit judge.

In 1912 Mr. Davis devoted a great deal of time to the Equal Suffrage campaign. He attended the State Federation of Labor at the Dalles and the State Grange at Roseburg, and got resolutions passed endorsing that movement. He has been strongly recommended by the leaders of Equal Suffrage, and shortly before Mrs. Duniway passed away, she wrote a letter requesting him to become a candidate, and offering her services in every way possible to bring about his election.

The fact that Mr. Davis has been attorney for the laboring people for so many years, and has had so much experience in the courts, should well qualify him for the position he seeks, and it is earnestly desired by the unions of this city that every man and woman affiliated with a union organization use their best efforts to bring about Mr. Davis' election.

CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER.

One of the most active candidates for the position of County Commissioner is A. A. Muck, formerly mayor of St. Johns.

Enumerating some of the things for which he stands he said:

"I believe in giving the freest publicity to all county affairs and in that way keeping the voters of the county advised at all times regarding the county administration. Any acts of the Board of County Commissioners that cannot be given the widest publicity are condemned in the public mind and should not be tolerated. There should be no mysteries about the Court House."

"I desire to have the road department of the county devote more attention and effort to the improvement of roads serving the farmers and reaching the undeveloped parts of the county, and in that way open up for use the fertile and productive lands which today are either idle and unproductive or else are being tilled under most adverse conditions.

"I believe in the most open competition in making the county purchases and particularly in buying pavement and road machinery and supplies. I believe that all types of pavement should be considered on a parity and bought strictly upon their merits as pavements. Other things being equal, I will prefer Oregon manufactured products and the employment of Multnomah County people in all lines of county work and disapprove the sending of county work to outside cities when our own workmen and merchants can supply equally as serviceable articles at as advantageous prices."

"If elected, I will see to it that steps are taken that will make it possible to provide for the unfortunate children confined in the Frazer Detention Home in a manner more in keeping with the ideas of red blooded men and right thinking fathers and mothers."

GAINS BY BREWERY WORKERS.

The Brewery Workers' Union, at La Crosse, Wis., has increased wages $1.50 a week and secured improved working conditions.

MRS. G. L. BULAND WOULD BE DELEGATE

If the women voters of the state are loyal Oregon will have a woman representative in the Republican National convention.

Mrs. G. L. Buland is a candidate for delegate at large and is the only woman candidate.

She is a resident of Portland and has been an active worker along social and economic lines.

She is pledged to support the choice of the Republican voters of Oregon for president, and to promotion of the interests and the conservation of the welfare of all the people.

She says that she is asking the support of the Republican electors: "Because the entire United States is watching what Oregon is doing."

"Because Oregon means progress."

"Because the women of Oregon by their activities and votes have done valiant service to the state."

"Because by sending a woman as delegate-at-large to the National Republican convention you would demonstrate to the east that the west believes in the value of equal suffrage."

"Because my record as a social and political worker in many lines of activity assure you of my fearless and strong support of those principles and measures for which the majority of Oregon stand."

FAVOR FREE TEXT BOOKS.

In behalf of Free Textbooks for all our Free Schools.

Whereas, Our free schools are not only our nation's pride and glory, but also the foundation upon which all our free institutions depend for their stability and security, and,

Whereas, In order to be completely free, our schools must provide, not only free instruction, but free text books, as the medium through which that free instruction may be made available without distinction of class or condition, and,

Whereas, The present policy of permitting school boards to loan text books to those pupils whose parents confess themselves unable to provide them, does tend to foster such distinctions, by causing such pupils to appear in the role of "Charity Scholars," thus entailing humiliation to both parents and children, and,

Whereas, This duty of making our free schools completely free, is one of such importance that it becomes an obligation of the entire state and cannot be safely and wisely left to the option of the school districts themselves, many of which may not be financially able to assume such obligation;

Therefore, Be it Resolved, That we, the members of Cottage Grove Grange, No. 443, wish to go on record as favoring the proposition that the state shall furnish free text books to all its free schools, to the end that those schools may be free in fact as in name, and may offer their privileges to all, without distinction or condition. And inasmuch as we believe that the state can most economically apply this policy by publishing its own text books.

Therefore, Be it Resolved, second, That we believe that the state should assume the entire responsibility of providing text books for all its free schools by printing, instead of by purchase from outside publisher, who are often too ready to manipulate these matters to their own advantages instead of in the interests of the schools.

Therefore, Be it Resolved, third, That we invite all other Granges of the state to unite with us in the effort to bring about this change of policy.

Cottage Grove Grange, T. J. HELLIWELL, Master, J. R. COOLEY, Secretary.

WHEELING PLUMBERS STRIKE.

Union Plumbers at Wheeling, W. Va., are on strike because their employers insist that wages shall be paid by the hour instead of the day or half day. The bosses want conditions fixed so that when they call for plumbers, and their find they are not ready to work them, the employe will be paid only for the time he is actually employed.

How a Man Cured His Wife of Tuberculosis.

In the May Woman's Home Companion is the description of a $50-shack by means of which a man cured his wife of tuberculosis and which is a good suggestion for a bungalow.

"A carpenter and I built it in three days," we read. "The entire cost of material and carpenter's wages was about $50. The supplies consisted of two by six stringers, two by four studs and braces, one-inch boards, roofing paper and canvas, wood nails, eight-ounce canvas one yard wide, a few hinges, hooks, awning pulleys, and some three-sixteenth-inch manila rope. Logs cut on the spot provided foundation posts, and saplings made the porch railings."

"The location was in the edge of some woods in orders to obtain shade on hot days; but the shack was so constructed for ceiling ventilation it would not have been hot even if fully exposed to the sun. There was near an hour of oppressive heat."

"The floor space was full twelve feet by fifteen feet, and, with the ample porches, there was a comfortable freedom of room. The canvas walls were made to be opened the full distance on three sides. The fourth side was canvassed solid for the sake of privacy and stability. The lower half of the adjustable sides was a long strip of canvas tacked tight on a frame that was hinged to the floor in such a way as to permit lowering it horizontally and raising it vertically with ropes and pulleys."

She Invented 101 New Ways to Get Fired.

"If the really superior girl fails to get a job through lack of the proper effect," says Grace Margaret Gould in the May Woman's Home Companion, "what chance has the giddy little girl who puts on all the cheap finery she can get hold of? None, you may be sure. Her hair is frizzed to the limit and her skirt is cut to the limit. Her waist is flimsy and she chews gum. She has caused more forms of firing to be invented, from the polite to the rude, than any other applicant who enters a business office. And yet she may be both pretty and capable. What a pity that she doesn't know!"

No man should wait until he knows all about women before getting married.

Get Under The Load

By LENNA PITTMAN STAHL

"Not taking much interest in union matters now. Paying my dues and letting the clique run the business as they see fit. What's the use of attending meetings or trying to help along? A few guys do all the talking. One makes a motion, another of the gang seconds it and it is steam-rolled through before you know what's being done. I'm disgusted, as a majority of the other fellows are. Let 'em run it for all I care."

Do you meet up with this line of talk in your associations with union men? These, and numerous other complaints, have become so familiar that one can repeat a string of them without taxing one's memory to any extent.

It's the old, old story. The wise members "let George do it." They know how the local should be run, but it is of no use to tell the "fat heads" anything.

The man or woman who gets anywhere in this little old world of ours has got to fight—fight from the day he is born until his last time check is signed and he stands before the great Paymaster. If you sneak through life in the wake of your fighting comrade you have lost the zest of the struggle.

The Creator put you here to do your share. If you dodge or sidestep, you're cheating. Don't sit on the fence and look on. Get into the swim. You'll like the water after the first plunge.

Do your talking on the floor at the meetings, not on street corners or work-rooms. Don't back up, stay with your task. You will be welcomed, for all the world loves a live wire.

Don't be a knocker. The workers in your local are fighting your fight. A fellow who can back-cap as hard as you can, will be some fighter in the trenches with his weapon trained on the opposing forces.

Every good soldier counts. They need you. You need them. You should do your share. You need not be an orator. Be a picket, a scout, a high private, if necessary, but be something that will help. The ones who are building up your local, fighting local difficulties, and holding the local together deserve the credit, and your help.

Don't be just a card-carrier,—be a union man. Be loyal to those who are protecting your interests. Work for those who are working for you and always remember they who serve will be served.

Be just what your card stands for, at all times, always.

WILL ARBITRATE DISCHARGE.

The five-days' tie-up of the Woburn division of the Bay State Railway Company, Woburn, Mass., is ended by the company agreeing to arbitrate the discharge of a conductor. The Street Car Men's Union claims union activity was responsible.

Falling in love with the cook is proof of the pudding.
