

SPOTLIGHT ON KIDS

This month the spotlight is on Scott Stritenberg, a hard working, energetic young man who moved to this area at the young age of three. Scott, now a senior, is active in sports and student government. He has been a member of the Butte Falls High School football, basketball, and baseball teams during all four years of high school. Scott is currently the senior class vice president, secretary of FBLA, a Natural Helper, a member of the National Honor society since tenth grade, and a member and past president of BFAA. Along with his membership in these organizations, Scott has been an active helper and participated in many fund-raising projects for Close Up.

When asked about his plans after high school and his long range goals, Scott said he plans to attend Southern Oregon State College and major in business. He plans some day to start his own business, then get married and start a family. When asked who helped prepare him for his goals, Scott gives credit to his parents, saying "I've worked for my dad a lot and he taught me a lot about running a business." Many of you will remember seeing Scott last summer as he helped his family construct the Butte Falls Motel. He was observed helping out from the ground on up.

When questioned about his spare time and what he likes to do, Scott replied that he likes to work and make money, but what he likes even better is to spend time with his friends and girl friend. Scott has found several ways to spend time with his friends while also helping out his classmates and fellow community members. In October he helped the Close Up group put on the Halloween Family Fun Night. He dressed in costume and helped with games in the community hall. Earlier in the school year, Scott along with fellow members of the football team painted their faces in school colors, wore Butte Falls T-shirts, and performed as cheer leaders for our Lady Logger Volleyball team at the state championship game. What most of you don't know is that two years ago Scott spent many long hours working in the kitchen of the elementary school with a couple of close friends, his parents, and Joyce and Jack Brown preparing behind the scenes for Cycle Oregon. He assisted with many facets of preparing the food including the mundane task of filling many hundreds of small containers with butter.

Scott has said that he would like people to know that he enjoys a good challenge and that he will work hard to accomplish anything that he starts. Those of you that know Scott are well aware that this is true!

SPELLING CONTEST

Students from Butte Falls took place in local spelling contests on April 23. Two contestants were selected from each grade to participate.

The following represented their classes:

2nd grade: Serita Holte, and Ian Rydberg

3rd grade: James McClanahan and Casey Larios

4th grade: Kelly Harrington and Stephanie Hewitt

5th grade: Greg Gorhan and Amanda Hamilton.

Students were given thirty words to spell. Some of those were; pigeon, discourteous, mistletoe, cessation, potential, and fascinating.

After Superintendent Harvey Boyle checked the spelling of each word, fourth grader Kelly Harrington was declared the winner.

Kelly will participate in a district contest on May 1 at Ashland High School. The winner from the district will then advance to the State contest.

Congratulations Kelly!
