

In celebration of Earth Week, members of Mrs. McNeil's kindergarten classes each made Hairy. Now you might say, "What is a Harry?" To answer that, it is necessary to remember that part of the Earth Week celebration is a reminder for each of us to take part in recycling. In an attempt to learn more about re-cycling Hairy was created. He starts with an old can filled with dirt, a couple of bottle caps or lids for ears, a plastic clip from a loaf of bread used as a nose, some used aluminum foil for a mouth and 2 old buttons for eyes. Grass seed is then planted and the children wait for their creations to become Hairy. Once the grass begins to grow their Hairy takes on a new personality. The youngsters even had the opportunity to give their Hairy a hair cut.
