

Friends of the Library- Ina Hilkey

Pride of ownership and teamwork all contribute to great displays at our library display cases. Patrons may volunteer to share their collections with us. Some patrons are shy or do not even think of sharing their collectibles- until they are asked. We are limited to items that fit in our display cases. Check with our librarian as to size. (Approx 14" in height). If you have something collectible you would like to share, let us know.

Teen books of interest "Battle of Jericho" by Sharon M. Draper; "Left for Dead" by Beck Weathers and "Wide Sargasso Sea" by Jean Rhys are available.

Don't forget Storytime on Tuesdays at 10:30 am and "Box Tops for Education". Campbell labels for education and Betty Crocker points can be dropped off at The Elementary and High School, and Totem Pole. Thanks to all who came by the book sale in early October. We do appreciate your business.

Fall Festival Update!

A big thank you for those who supported the Fall Festival on October 11th and braved the clouds and rain.

Thanks to those who participated by having a booth: The Community Garden, FBLA, Fire Department, Eighth Grade Class, Booster Club, Close Up, Pyramid Band, Butte Falls Cafe and Butte Falls Tavern.

And to all those wet and muddy football players....

RAH... RAH...RAH...

Community Garden News

by- Bud Liberatore

Despite the low turnout, the drenching rain and cool temperatures on Saturday the 11th, the results of the Community Garden fund raising effort were a success.

Shady Cove residents, Mary West and Dee Hawkin, must have had their stars lined up perfectly that day! Mary was the winner of the 50?50 raffle and Dee was glad to hear that she and her family will experience boating under sail power. To all those who did not win, better luck next year!

Due to the limited numbers of shoppers on Saturday, we have a large selection of plants remaining. So, if you missed the sale, you can still take advantage of a great bargain to beautify your yard.

Ford Foundation Thank You..
Thanks to the Ford Family Foundation Grant & the Cafeteria Staff. The food is GREAT! - Aloha Adams

A thank you to Debbie Coughtry (Rodgers), Dan, Carrie and the other two ladies for helping me when I fell.
Thank you all. Ellen Conley.

Where will you find the turkey's caruncles?
Answer: The caruncle is the growth of skin that dangle from the turkey's chin.
