The Big Red Truck- By Cory Hamann

(A poem for our local volunteer firefighters and EMT'S)

*Someone calls 9-1-1 and the alarm sounds
Here comes the volunteer's from all around...*

Shelley and Jeff G., Thomas and Brett

Another fire has erupted and yet

They are cool and collected you can bet....

*Despite the adrenaline running through them
Not knowing what is ahead, just around the bend...*

So willing to conquer whatever is there and hoping and praying no life to spare...

Gerrad, Kevin, Alex & Darren are part of the team

Four mean, lean fighting machines....

And then there are the others

Jacque, Chelsie, Jeff S., Caleb, Rocky, David & Dean

They are kind of like family, sisters and brothers...

Not always agreeing and getting along but still working together to "fulfill the call"...

And, Carrie, what would we do without her?

She's so dedicated and love's to take your blood pressure...

*No pay, no benefits, no vacations, no fear
It's all in a day's work of our firefighter volunteers!*

On Monday 3/27 when the alarm went off and the two "big red trucks" went out of town I felt so blessed and thankful for our volunteer firefighters and EMT'S.

You all work so hard and I hope that everyone in our town appreciates you because each one of us has been touched somehow by your hard work & dedication.....What would we do without you? I love you!

This is my last month for putting the Bulletin together. Starting next month please leave all info with Lori at the City Hall or email her at bfcityhall@ccountry.com. Thank you!
