Jeff Gorman ~ Community Hero

"The most difficult part of my job isn't the risk, long hours, or no pay -- it's knowing that in a small community like Butte Falls, the next accident, the next fire or next death could be a close friend or family member," says Butte Falls Fire Chief, Jeff Gorman. Jeff will not die with an un-lived life. His 24/7 commitment has earned him the respect and admiration of many. Jeff has served as a trained volunteer firefighter for the past 7 years and was appointed chief in 2003. By contributing over 10,000 hours to the growth, development and leadership of the department, Jeff has taken the fire department from a fledgling, low-budget rural fire station in 2003, to a fully certified department with 15 trained volunteers and over $175,000 in grants and donations. Jeff donates his time, energy and expertise to set goals and motivate others. Mail Tribune, 3-6-07.

Way to go Jeff ~ Great Job!
