

Meet Your Police Officer - Josh Solenberger

Josh was born in Medford and grew up in Eagle Point. As many of us know, their school mascot is the Eagle. His favorite color is grey. He says "it seems to be neutral and works well with most other colors".

He doesn't have a specific favorite music genre, he likes several types of music and says "It really depends on the artist and the song."

His loves thrillers & horror movies and his favorite super hero would be a tie between 'Dead Pool' & 'Iron Man'.

Prior to coming to work in our community he worked in youth corrections for the Oregon Youth Authority. His favorite part of working in our community is "working with the kids and showing a positive side of law enforcement". The most challenging part of his job is trying to explain to people that police work is not black & white and that everyone in the community has rights.

After several years with no law enforcement, it is a pleasure to have a young officer with such a positive attitude, who is a good role model for & cares deeply for our children, and that protects the rights of us all. When you have a chance say hello and welcome him to our community. He has a very difficult job and any encouragement would be welcomed; I am sure.

By Sunny Bryant

Editor

Officer Josh Solenberger with Mayor Linda Spencer at his graduation from the Police Academy

