ADDITIONAL PARCEL POST REGULATIONS

To further insure the safe delivery of articles sent by parcel post and to educate the people in packing goods which might injure the mails, instructions have been received by Postmaster J. L. Page from the department at Washington, D. C. The new order regulates the shipping of vegetables, dressed poultry, butter, eggs, fruit and other articles weighing over 20 pounds, making it possible to ship them in the first and second class zones and crates to be carried outside of mail boxes.

All liquids sent through the mails must be carefully packed either in boxes holding excelsior, sawdust or other absorbent material. The stoppers or corks must be put in so that there will be no danger of loosening. Unloaded pistols or guns may be sent through the mails, but the Postmaster at the mailing office must examine them and determine whether they are safe. Parcels containing perishable articles shall be marked "Perishable." Articles likely to perish before the time allowed for delivery at their destination, shall not be accepted.

Manufacturers or dealers intending to transmit articles in considerable quantities should submit to the postmaster at the mailing office for approval a specimen parcel showing the manner of packing.

Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools shall be capped or incased so that they can not cut through their covering. Blades shall be bound so that they will remain firmly attached to each other or within their handles or sockets. Plowpoints, stove castings, pieces of machinery, etc., shall have all points, edges, and corners thoroughly protected with excelsior or similar material and be wrapped in burlap cloth or tough paper, or be properly boxed to prevent damage to mail or equipment, when intended for other than local delivery.

Butter, lard and perishable articles such as fish, fresh meats, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruits, berries and articles of a similar nature which decay quickly, when so packed or wrapped as to prevent damage to other mail matter, shall be accepted for local delivery either at the office of mailing or any rural route starting therefrom. When inclosed in an inner cover and a strong outer cover of wood, metal, heavy corrugated pasteboard, or other suitable material, and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package, they will be accepted for mailing to all offices to which in the ordinary course of mail they can be sent without spoiling.

Butter, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruits and other perishable articles in parcels weighing more than 20 pounds shall be accepted for mailing to offices in the first and second zones when suitably wrapped or inclosed and packed in crates, boxes or other suitable containers having tight bottoms to prevent the escape of anything from the package and so constructed as properly to protect the contents. All such parcels to be transported outside of mail bags.

Vegetables and fruits which do not decay quickly will be accepted for mailing to any zone if packed so as to prevent damage to other mail matter.

Eggs shall be accepted for local delivery when so packed in a basket or other container as to prevent damage to other mail matter.

Eggs shall be accepted for mailing regardless of distance when each egg is wrapped separately and surrounded with excelsior, cotton or other suitable material and packed in a strong container made of double-faced corrugated pasteboard, metal, wood or other suitable material and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package. All such parcels shall be labeled "eggs."

Eggs in parcels weighing more than 20 pounds shall be accepted for mailing to offices in the first and second zones when packed in crates, boxes, buckets, or other containers having tight bottoms to prevent the escape of anything from the package and so constructed as properly to protect the contents. Such packages to be marked "Eggs—side up," and to be transported outside of mail bags.

Twenty-five million feet of red alder stands in the Siuslaw Valley tributary to Eugene ready to be manufactured into clothespins, according to the announcement of H. B. Rankin, supervisor of the Siuslaw National forest, following a season of experiments by the government to determine the proper use for this wood which is found all through the forests of the Oregon coast. Birch and Maple have been the only woods available in the northwest suited to the manufacture of clothespins, and they exist only in limited quantities. A general demand for such a wood exists, says the forestry department.

TIDE CARRIES SCOW OVER BAR TO SEA

One of the large scows with which the cargo of the Frederick is being unloaded, was driven over the bar yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock.

Eleven men were on the scow, which the tug Rdscoe was putting along side of the Frederick, when in some manner the tug and scow were driven by the strong ebb current into the break and over the bar.

The sea was quite calm and the tug stood by the scow until the tide turned, bringing it back just before eight o'clock in the evening.

While it looked like a close call to those on board the scow, nothing happened, more than considerable discomfort from crossing the bar on an open scow.
