Torch of Reason

The Only Paper of Its Kind.

Published Weekly by the Liberal University Company, in the Interests of Constructive, Moral Secularism.

J. E. Hosmer, Editor P. W. Geer, Manager

Entered at the postoffice at Silverton, Oregon, as second-class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One year, in advance$1	00
	50
Three months, in advance	25
In clubs of five or more, one year,
	75
37 1 11 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	- 1

Money should be sent by registered letter or money order.

Notice!

A hand pointing to this notice denotes that your subscription has expired. You are earnestly requested to renew so that you may receive the paper without interruption. We have decided that it is best for all concerned that we do not send papers longer than the time paid for unless so ordered. This will prevent any loss and we will know just where we stand.

We request you to send us the names of Secularists who might become subscribers and we will mail sample copies.

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, E. M. 300.

RELIGIOUS INTOXICATION VS. SECULAR EXERCISE.

By fixing the attention on any object and holding it there for a long time, a person's mind may become unbalanced. Again, if people, without resting the mind, think of any one subject too long, they lose their mental equilibrium, and we say they are crazy. Of course, it is easier for a certain type of mind to lose its balance than for another, and the old saying that "fools never go crazy" shows that it is not necessary for one to be lacking in all the faculties to become unbalanced.

The excitement of the pleasurable emotions is a rest, and those who know how to fortify the trinity of the mind, with healthful mental and physical exercise, will last much longer and do much better work than he who ignorantly excites his emotional nature by false and unwholesome mental intoxicants.

Compare, for example, the healthful and elevating exercise of dancing, or of playing lawn tennis, with the frenzy of religious excitement. The one kind exercises body and mind with lasting effects for good. The dancer or player is excited, but still has perfect self-control. The mind is perfectly balanced, for there is no awful, unfathomable mystery to thwart or harass its processes. And if, as is sometimes the case, a young weeps for the victory or the defeat of his club, or if a young lady feels sad because she does not get to dance as often as she would like, it is perfectly natmoulds the character into greater beauty.

How different is the intoxication, the delirium of religious excitement. Every mental process that weakens and prostrates the mind and body is present. Thoughts of a mysterious something called God: thoughts of death and its supposed awful consequences; thoughts of the victim's own weaknesses and past sins, which with many constitute the mainspring of their religious antics; and thoughts of humble submission to unseen and unknown powers - all these painful feelings, coupled with the false hope that the poor, weakened soul has found a panacea for his imaginary woes and spurred on by an exciting, earnest, tragical performance of a trained preacher, it is little wonder that such scenes take place as we still witness in nearly all the rural districts of our spook-ridden country. We recently witnessed such a performance, and when it was all over we felt weak and tired in body and mind; and how much more so were the men and women who took it seriously.

Women are more emotional than men, and this probably accounts for the "sixteen to one" manifestation in religion. The illogic of a sermon seems to make no discord in the minds of these sixteen women and one man, and they are ready to fall into the arms of God's agent and do or believe anything he says, provided he knows how to dance about the stage, flap his wings and shout in the proper manner.

The recent performance before mentioned was truly an example for a student of human nature to study. The performer, in addition to bringing onto the listeners' mental stage the gods and ghosts, also dug up their dead friends old fathers and mothers and little babes; this, with a fearful picture of an Infidel, who had no Bible in his house and who was trying to summon up sufficient courage to commit suicide, and a goody-goody years, a little sarcasm for seasoning, and all demonstrated, illustrated and emphasized with stampthe body and wonderful expressdamage thus done to humanity is simply appalling, and one who is inspired with the hope of making a heaven here is soon deep in the of combatting and flanking the evil effects of such gross superstitions, which are the main forces progress.

Some preachers are hypocrites, some are semi-hypocrites, and some ural and perhaps only softens and are almost entirely sincere in their expenses are kept at the lowest and the true.

foolishness; but the damage they possible point, and although we do tional minds is beyond estimate or tion. repair.

start to build something better than do now, plan for the future and get the old emotional, degenerating delirium of superstitious religions. But of us, if we each do a little, to make our institution is young, and, like the eagle spoken of in "holy writ" (Deut. 32:11), the great body of Freethinkers, whose minds have learned to soar above the caves and crags of ancient myth, in the beautiful, clear sky, where the golden beams of the sun of eternal truth ing out of the grounds. gilds their mental pinions, are bearing this little Luo eaglet upon their broad wing, and by and by the little bird will be strong enough to soar aloft and attract the attention of those who are grossly those little babes who are continucorrupted by the foul breath of superstition, will be drawn, by the millions, toward the light of a brighter and happier day.

DO SOMETHING NOW.

Our Freethought University is doing an untold amount of good. We have young men and women here who are developing into experts along the various lines of thought. Some are excellent in arithmetic and algebra, some in bookkeeping, some in botany, some in Latin, some in rhetoric and history, some in music, and many seem to excel in everything they undertake; and besides this and much more that could be truthfully said in regard to the studies of the sciences, the work is based upon the freedom of thought and speech which gives all such an inspiration to look further and become much one of a Christian who had had better educated than those who sunshine in his soul for thirty-five must finally run up against religious AUTHORITY.

But this work is yet being carried forward with many disadvaning of the feet, rapid movements of tages. Besides those who have helped make our work thus far the ions of countenance, unbalanced success that it has been, there are not a few. At first we were struck many others who have expressed with the comic part, but a little sympathy and approval of what we deeper thought satisfied us that the are doing, but we are sure if those who have thus been able to materially help, and others who have encouraged, knew just how much the success of the L. U. O. depends work of devising ways and means on their activity right now, they would scarcely rest till they had done all in their power to get the school onto a self-supporting basis. now pitted against the armies of Every cent that we are able to raise and very rich. We can raise most by donations, printing, tuition, etc., is spent in trying to put up our energy and enthusiasm that is born building. Our actual, necessary of a love for the good, the beautiful are doing in the world by unbal- not suffer, the expense is often too ancing the already naturally emo- low for the real good of the institu-

Now, we do not believe in mak-Secularists, our work is a great ing the L. U. O. a nuisance or a one. We yet have much rubbish burden to any one. The days of to remove in order to build all that martyrdom ought-to be past, and we wish to build, but we of the L. therefore we, who know about this U. O. believe that some ground is work, its great need and its great ready and we are trying to make a needs, must do what we can easily others interested. There are enough the work a grand success, but many of us have never yet even heard of such a movement. Our success demands that every reader of the Torch act as our agent and at once do something to hasten the completion of the building and lay-

Please do something at once, if it is possible. Can't you write a letter now to a friend who will join our Torch procession? Or, better yet, go and see him or her as soon as you have leisure and talk about gorging themselves on the putrid what we are working hard to acremains of past ignorance; and complish. If each one will do what he or she can and then get others ally coming to our world only to be to work, soon our yoke will be easy and our burden light. In fact, we will be able to throw away our yoke and buy a Freethought automobile, and sail into our Secular heaven in a manner that will cast in the shade old Elijan and his chariot of fire.

Now, ready! Let's all lift together!

OUR PLAYGROUND.

We have as yet no real good grounds for field sports, but we have begun to stake out one of the finest bicycle tracks, football grounds and baseball diamonds imaginable. Of course we do not expect to run to seed on athletics and neglect the mental faculties almost altogether, as some of the socalled colleges of our time do, but young people love sport, and under proper management, when properly limited in time, it is a good and wise thing, for, in order to do good mental work, a student must be well and happy.

We will therefore proceed to make a track which we hope will be good summer and winter. This will require considerable tiling, plowing, scraping and rolling, but when it is done it will be a joy forever to those who know how to properly mix labor and recreation.

Then we hope to be able, some time in the near future, to plant beautiful trees and flowers all around this playground, and we have in mind many pretty little cottages, with flower-trimmed walks leading thereto.

Our land is as level as a floor everything. All we need is the