Torch of Reason

SILVERTON OREGON.

For the Torch of Reason.

"Guided" Points.

BY JOHN PRESCOTT GUILD.

Down superstition — up demonstration!

An ounce of spunk is worth an ocean of drunk.

Take the days as they come, or some time you will miss some.

Mathematics requires no miracles. Theology revels in mystery.

The more free men there are, the more freedom there is for each free man.

"Every dog has his day," and so has every dogma, but truth lives eternally.

Those who say they have no time or money for books and papers find enough for beer and tobacco.

Don't wonder about the thunder. Better stand from under a tree which the lightning may strike.

Thought may not add to your stature, but it may add to your status and thus make you a statue.

Intemperance costs more than intelligence. Reading is cheaper than rumming, and from it is less trouble coming.

Take time to think, but don't fail to find time to do something with your thinks when you have got them think.

The Temple of Inspiration is on Investigation Street. Take the Torch of Reason with you, and you'll find the door.

"Misery loves company," but it is a very miserable sort of a man who will make another man miserable for the sake of his miserable company.

"Self-love and social are the same." So said Alexander Pope, the poet-philosopher, and he sought to show it by nature's light, as he argued that when one works for another's good, it is because it is a pleasure to do so, otherwise no one would ever take the trouble. The theory of the actuality of disinterested motives is a fallacy, from the fact that there is no disconnection of the realities concerned.

Errata.

In the sixth line of "The Oregon Elysium", in the Torch of March 17, the word "nobbis" is to be read "noblis"—the noble fir. It is the red or yellow fir, the most common tree here, and comprises the bulk of Western Oregon forests.

F. S. MATTESON.

Remember, if you send us the names and addresses of 25 of your Liberal friends and acquaintances, we will make you a present of a copy of the Torch of Reason Song Book No. 2. This will only cost you a few minutes' work and a two-cent stamp.
