VICKY & DAVID

ARIES It is no accident that someone left your cage unlocked. You are, if not free, at least reasonably priced this month. And everyone appreciates the bargain. Money could be a hassle (imagine your surprise) especially if a partnership is involved. If it's a choice between work and new experiences, call in sick.

TAURUS Should romance rear its comely head this month, run away. Impetuosity will only lead to pain and sadness. Instead, work like a horse. Your powers of analysis, never your long suit, are firing on all cylinders for a change. Use them to figure ways to work in the community. Where friends are concerned, the trick is to love them without ties.

GEMINI The good news is that you're sharp as a tack this month, ricocheting from project to project, places to go, things to do, people to see. And it all flows. The bad news (relatively speaking) is that you'd just as soon find a comfy cave and pull the entrance in behind you. Either it will all work out or it won't. Don't forget I told you so.

CANCER Your empathic powers are humming this month. The emotional balm you have in your medicine bag works wonders. And a good thing this is, since serious fussing could arise between you and your mate over your social schedule. Be careful not to double book your time and be the diplomat. The name of the game this month is Nurture. The rewards will be obvious.

LEO Up and at them, cat people. The snooze is over and there's work to do -- mountains of it and good work at that. Finish up old business and bite off more than you can chew. It's worked before and it furthers now. One bit of caution, don't ignore someone who doesn't deserve it and won't put up with it. Sins of the month are Pride and Humility. Fit them together and win a metaphysical kewpie doll.

VIRGO Feeling a little passionate this month, are we? Good, it'll make everyone realize you're not a cold, calculating fish. Throw your self into something or someone, but (for you this goes without saying) don't indulge in nitwittery. You'll be getting hazy vibes about problems in a close relationship. Ignoring them will be begging the universe to ritually gut you, so to speak.

LIBRA Set aside a day early in the month for ritual merrymaking. A romantic evening with torches, sacrificial oysters, and large gongs would be best. You will, of course, need to do this for free since chances are you'll be broke -- or could be if you invest in this season's version of mink farms. Get out there and mix it up. Relate to something, even if badly.

SCORPIO Work goes well, which is good since a close relationship may well detonate in your face. Yes, a big one. Deep enough that compromise seems less palatable than opening a vein. There's a good chance talking things out will only lead to useless bloodletting. Disengage, re-evaluate, and remember that conflict does not depend on one person being right and the other being stupid.

SAGITTARIUS This month's game is, Find the Hidden Lover. That's right, the Puzzlemaster has hidden what might be the love of your life somewhere in your social network. Suspect everyone, suspect no one, pretend nonchalance. Pick up on faint signals and don't hesitate to collaborate on what only appears to be business. Upscale your ideas of fun and fine tune your domestic scene.

CAPRICORN You might want to sit down. Your best shot this month is Purposeful Play. You owe it to yourself and to the universe. So what if things don't get done? If life teaches us anything, it's that the drudge will be there when we get back. The fly in the ointment might be money which, if you let it, could drive a wedge between you and a friend. Get out there and break a habit or two.

AQUARIUS One would be well advised this month to, as they say, chill out. It probably won't be easy but anger is its own reward and emotional chain reactions are always less fun than they sound when you're talking loudly. Go for a drive in the country, launch a new program, read a book without pictures. Your mantra this month -- and this too shall pass -- If it doesn't kill it.

PISCES Yes, you're right, no one really appreciates you. While pouting and whining, it might be nice to take a look at what you're involved in and why. Not that your life is a charade or illusion, it's just good to take stock when you feel like the tides of karma are receding from you and taking your pickup truck and dog with them. If they really belong to you, they'll come back.
