

Aries A good month to put a cork in the ego and speak from the heart. Don't worry over much about money and leap only at something that will catch you. Though it's more important to understand than to be understood, the same goes for others. Clarify your positions, declare your intent, check for motives. If you don't like what you're reaping (and there's a good chance you won't), try sowing something new. Kick up your heels but bear in mind the difference between hormonal imbalance and love. Mistakes made this month could be spectacular.

Taurus Happy solar return, bull people. Celebrate by banishing the word "I" from your vocabulary. What comes to you this month will not be pretty unless you're working for goals greater than self-gratification. Stop whining. Take care of business, remembering that being human is a full time job and we're all just apprentices. The solar eclipse in your sign is a gentle tap on your forehead. Whatever is taken from you, you're better off without. The winds of change are blowing in your ear. Snorting and pawing the ground will get you nowhere.

Gemini Yes, cupcake, it's finally your month. Venus and Mercury play a friendly game of badminton with the shuttlecock of your karma. Big fun unless you exercise your option to behave like a nitwit. Visualize serious play. Confront nothing and lighten loads, starting with your own. Find what's clinking in the machinery and replace it. Flex your dual nature and step outside yourself. Look at the manic chaos of spring with new eyes and impose order gently. Dance with strangers and say yes to graceful dalliances. You owe it to yourself.

Cancer For better or worse, your plate is more than full. The sap that started rising last month is at flood stage. There's a good chance you'll fall in love. There's a good chance you'll skin your knee in the process. Trust your gut feelings, but only as far as you can throw them with rational thought. Recognize the distinction between habit and conviction and stop letting old insecurities play you like a harp. The universe may be asymmetric, but there's a lot to be said for balance between heart and mind. Leap slowly.

Leo The roll that started last month continues. Affairs of the heart take a back seat to work. Stop snivelling. Sincere effort now can take you over the top, making this no time for smelling roses. Given temptations to socialize past all limits of reason, this can be très tricky. Time to dive once again to your metaphysical (as opposed to existential) core. Remind yourself who you are and what you're doing. Stop backing into life. Only those who stand up cast a shadow, booblah. What comes to you is yours. Accept it with humility.

Virgo You might want to sit down. Whatever smooth sailing you've been enjoying turns into white water rafting. On the bright side, you have a paddle. Use it as a brake. Cop to the fact that the change originates in you: the captain of your bobsled. The Great Work involves communicating your ideas in ways that don't make loved ones dash shrieking into the night. Bounce your dreams off observed reality and don't push what needs to be coaxed. If possible, get out of town, at least mentally. If you don't go, you'll have been nowhere. Dig?

Libra Time to come out from under the bushel basket. In matters of finance, think things through and expect what's yours. The world being what it is, you won't get it all at once. The wise will ponder this, along with the muttering mob of conflicts and loose ends in your relationships. All ponder and no action, of course, makes one a dud. Get out of your cave and mix it up. Nothing momentous will come of it but it beats moping and defending your options, not all of which are worth it. Keep a smile on your face and avoid sucker punches.

Scorpio Time to take off the goggles you didn't know you had on. What you see in others (both loveliness and warts) is a product of your vision. Let your powers of persuasion take a break and listen. Examine the myth of control and compute the pain and sadness in demands of true believers. Then focus on bringing work to completion. Strip away the fluff and come to terms with your value system. Right thought and right action are the most powerful prayers. And, in the midst of the storm and drang, you'll need them.

Sagittarius A time for endings rather than beginnings. Do that which is undone and seek out the company of like minded travelers. Disagreements left untended lead to confrontation. Walk away or get down to essentials. Under no circumstances, believe that others know who you are or why. Be honest, but let your honesty heal wounds rather than make them. Those around you rely on your vision and your ability to turn adversity into grand adventure. Accept criticism at face value, praise the good that remains, and take long naps.

Capricorn Your work could stand a little attention now. A pity since you'll be busy putting out fires at home. Yes, fluffy, discord. You'll be tempted to be self-righteous. It will be a horrible mistake. Tend your garden diligently and recognize half of the weeds are yours. It is foolish to expect acceptance from those you don't accept. Avoid power struggles like the plagues they'll become if you pursue them. When things hit bottom, instead of moping, blame it on the eclipse.

Aquarius Work calls this month. Do your best to ignore it. You have the universe's permission to play. Just remember no game's worth playing that asks you to wager your integrity. This said, say yes to comely strangers who offer shelter from the storm. They bear great gifts. As usual, love is the answer to whatever questions you have. Loving others is easy, loving yourself is the real challenge. And recognizing that love is not a noun, it's a verb. Take a good hard look at what's important to you, then get out of your head and do something.

Pisces No sense mincing words. This month you spend wandering through the storm with a lantern looking for the faith those around you have lost. It's a lovely job for you, the melancholy poet of the zodiac. Darkness and fog become you, babycakes, and the longer you labor for truth, the warmer home will be when you get back. You'll be painfully aware of the difference between talking and saying something. It will be more obvious in others than in yourself. Those with the brains the universe gave a crowbar will not be lulled into complacency.
