Righteous Persistence Brings Reward - I Ching

CHI'EN

Cannon Beach is a Winner by Kim Bossé

The Citizens of Cannon Beach were bestowed the Association of Oregon Recyclers 1994 Education/Promotion Recycler of the Year Award on May 13th. John Rippey, Recycling Co-Ordinator for the City of Cannon Beach attended the 16th Annual Conference in Eugene and accepted the award on behalf of the Citizens.

This prestigious tribute to our community gave me cause to reflect on the unique history of recycling efforts in our city. The success of the program is due to the dedicated partnership between volunteers, businesses, civic leaders, the Energy Committee, and all the individual participants.

The recycling program was begun in 1975 by volunteers Lucille Houston, Mike Morgan and the late Don Kontz. Permission was received from the city to use a parking lot as a depot for voluntary monthly collection of materials. Cannon Beach Lumber donated the use of a forklift to load the materials for transport to Portland. The Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis provided volunteers. For 14 years these volunteers operated a successful program collecting glass, tin, aluminum, newspaper and cardboard.

In 1989 the volunteers asked the City Council to secure funds to construct a small building to house the program and to create a position to oversee recycling operations. A 20X30 foot building was constructed in the summer and John Rippey was hired as the recycling Co-Ordinator. In October 1989. This made Cannon Beach one of the first cities with a population under 4000 to operate a civic recycling program. The Kiwanis purchased a small volume baler which produced 250 lb. bales and in partnership with the city obtained a forklift. The program was so successful that there was an immediate need for more storage and a larger baler.

In May 1989 Carol Anne Heikkila and Mary Anne Radmacher-Hershey, local residents, testified against off-shore drilling before a state task force and suggested development of a plan to conserve energy. The Oregon Department of Energy proposed that a community be selected to become a model for energy conservation. The residents of Cannon Beach agreed to be that model community and formed the Energy Conservation Task Force. In 15 months the Task Force was instrumental in accomplishing most of its goals including, but not limited to; a community energy fair, increased recycling services, a shuttle bus, energy audits for businesses, and an increase in public awareness regarding the reduction of use, reuse of, and recycling of products. This led to the formation of the Energy Committee, which is one of the few civic standing committees in the state dedicated to conservation.

In February 1991 a Curbside Recycling Program was implemented which provided twice monthly/same day as garbage pickup. Again Cannon Beach is one of a few cities under 4000 to provide this type of service.

In 1993 the Energy Committee conducted two studies on recycling and from the data obtained it was recommended that a 48' X 60' storage facility be built and a larger baler be purchased. This gave the program the ability to ship directly to markets thus increasing the efficiency and revenues.

BASEBALL

Okay, it's over. The Cubs broke a 92 year old record for consecutive losses at home, 0 and 12. Then something happened. They beat Cincinnati 5 to 2. How? Well, it seems there was this saloon keeper in 1945 who was a Cubs fan, and he had this goat, who we assume was also a Cubs fan. And the Cubs were playing in the World Series that year. Yes, they were! Really, look it up! Well, the saloon keeper wanted to take his goat to the game and the Cubs wouldn't let him. (We don't understand the problem. Probably most Cubs fans wouldn't have even noticed they were sitting next to a goat.) So, the saloon keeper puts a curse on the Cubs. And we haven't been in the Series since. Well, May 4th Ernie Banks (Mr. Cub) brought a goat into the 'friendly confines', and the Cubs won. The moral? Don't ever underestimate the power of a saloon keeper's curse. Ask Harry.
