

BLAME IT ON THE STARS

BOBBY LEE ZODIAC

ARIES: If you're into contention, this is a banner month. Tact works better than ballbats and hissy fits. Pace yourself. Your energy and capabilities only seem boundless. If you must fling yourself into some fray, be sure your opponent isn't a 500 lb. gorilla masquerading as a dwarf. The waters are too muddy for anything but the truth, the ground too rocky for tapdancing past reality. Begin each day by vowing not to be impetuous and to take pleasure in small things.

TAURUS: Although things go swimmingly with your mate, don't imagine the bonhomie extends to family at large. Avoid relatives like the snapping, whiney curs they can be. Ignore work as much as possible. Cuddling is more productive. A good time to ignore trees and concentrate on the forest. Listen to the music and realize it's an ensemble, not a collection of solos. Deal honestly, separate who you are from who you're not, and leap into nothing you've just met.

GEMINI: The thing to remember about money is that it's not worth arguing about. Or precipitating a coronary. Money boils down to portraits of dead politicians you use to buy stuff you can't take with you. Lighten up and tap the idiot monkey of the mind on the forehead with a mallet. Unless you enjoy feeling like a nitwit, decide nothing more complex than what to have for lunch. Patience is a virtue. Right now it's the antidote to bad drugs your karma has taken.

CANCER: My, we're a little ball of fire, aren't we? The energy you're not pouring into your nest and onto your friends is likely to manifest as the sort of love Plato didn't talk about. Drat the luck, right? This should keep your mind off opening a vein over the messy kaleidoscope life's become. Yes, it's a carnival. No, you can't go on all the rides at once. Try the Ferris Wheel. It's slow and gives a nice perspective on the roots of independence.

LEO: Nourishment comes from those closest to you. Not by accident but because, in a spherical universe, warmth and good cheer are reflected back on the source. So is profligate spending. Yes, the numbers in your budget are real. No, the simple life won't kill you. Neither will working more. Celebrate quietly and often, expose yourself without gushing, and recognize needs other than your own. Remember who you are and let no one down.

VIRGO: Happy solar return, nitpickers. Stop snarling, your notoriously terminal fascination with detail is just what the universe ordered this month. That and purposeful activity. Pursue change while locking horns with nothing. Avoid divisive action like the bonehead mistake it always is. Your special gift is your knack for distributing the harvest. And knowing we own nothing we haven't given away. Eat last, bring a small bowl, and thank your hostess.

LIBRA: Whatever the question, getting away is at least half the answer. Retreating is just advancing in a different direction. Refrain from taking information at face value. There are many faces, some of them ugly and stupid beyond belief. Step back lest you plant your foot in something you'll need to wipe off. All things pass, except those who don't study for the final. Don't ignore work.

SCORPIO: You're so charming this month, it's a hazard. Confused, but cute. When in doubt, ignore personal gain (emotional or fiscal) and explore new ground. It's the outside world that's riddled with chaos, your personal compass is just fine. Fix on long term goals, act locally, and listen to suggestions. Feed the data bank and process the information on long walks. If you ignore the urge for romance, expect your pipes to clog.

SAGITTARIUS: Listen to your dreams, as if you needed encouragement to avoid what others laughingly call reality. Conflicts that arise only seem to be about money. They're really about energy exchanges. Reset the clockwork of cause and effect by synchronizing truth with action. Study your windmills instead of charging them on horseback, do unto others with gentleness and grace, and spend as much time as you can chatting with yourself about function and form.

CAPRICORN: Whatever peace you find this month won't be at home. Your mate is likely to behave like a diseased pit viper. It would be lunacy to a) ignore the ungrateful slime, or b) turn your back. Accept coolly that your personal style might fall short of the godlike. Putting yourself first makes someone else last and ignoring personal faults is the first step of career sociopathy. Think big, carry a small ego, and remember independence is a lonely myth.

AQUARIUS: The perfect month to practice work without lust for result. Regardless who pays you, you're self employed, or should be. Consider the difference between spending money and spending time. Ask which you have more of and why? Expect others to misunderstand intentions. Question authority without prodding it and accept matters as they are. It's more important to understand than it is to be understood. Butting heads can result in concussion.

PISCES: Nothing will be more obvious this month than who your friends are and what you expect, as opposed to what you need from them. Don't panic over finances. It's a long game and folding isn't an option. Neither is wallowing in overblown angst. Sign nothing larger than the rent check, say yes to anyone comely who blows in your ear, and take many bubble baths. There will be a tomorrow. With any luck it'll make today seem like the past.
