Driving Without Using Brakes

Means skill to judge speed and distance, sniff out coming events and your next move, pace your 5 liter engine, bridle the GT steed smooth and firm, gear down to stay in torque, chrome tailpipes growl in synch.

Means trust in your sure hands, command and intellect and karma to prevail, not slowed by fear or protocol.

Means guts to stake a claim, stand by a cause, push the proverbial envelope, dare to be a wolf, not sheep, blaze a trail and be gone when the locust come.

Fun and Purpose

Reflections on life overheard at Bill's Tavern through the dark brew and smoky fiddle wail on a July Friday night.

"Fun is where it's at" bleges Tony over the din. "Purpose to the act" retorts Billy with a keen eye. You need both for a life.

"Fun without purpose is mindless fun. . ." Billy Hults muses.

". . . you wake with a hangover and a short memory" Tony adds. He goes on "Yet, all purpose and no fun. . ."

". . . you're fucked" Rev. Hults concludes. Sez Dr. Tony to the workaholics of the world, the bankrupt and suicidal at midpoint: "Get a life."

Are you someone filled with mystery and suspense? Join in a celebration of fiction that's best to read at this most mysterious time of year...

...Nahcotta, the Moby Dick Hotel on the Long Beach Peninsula, setting for New Yorker Mary Bringle's mystery novel Little Creatures Everywhere sets the stage for the third annual Halloween workshop for mystery and suspense writers, published or hopeful.

Mystery Writers' workshop

at the

Moby Dick Hotel

Nahcotta, Washington

October 28 - October 31

Join special guest NW writer Janet Smith, creator of "Annie MacPherson," to launch the event opening dinner à la Nero Wolfe. Workshop participants will help Mary Bringle, workshop leader, design informal seminars that focus on all aspects of mystery and suspense writing. Mary will schedule individual conferences and review manuscripts.

Workshop package includes: Room, Breakfast & Dinner. Participation Limited. Sign Up Early.
