

BLAME IT ON THE STARS

ARIES Instead of spurting in random directions, energies converge. A working alliance is forged between home and work, blank spaces on your social calendar are filled with pleasantness. Your professional ducks finally line up and stop quacking behind your back. Your juices are flowing, you're seen for what you are, and, on a good day, that's more than enough to turn the right heads.

TAURUS A month of journeys, inside and out, all of them rewarding. Nothing expands horizons quite like motion and you could use some new colors in your paintbox. The past insists on acting like the present and will continue to behave badly until you put it in its place. Shine new light on old memories and smile at the teaching. A flirtation at work sends flowers. You'll find they wilt fast.

GEMINI Your biggest challenge this month will be to wipe that silly smile off your face. Yes, the flowers are up. Business matters go swimmingly, partners come through, ideas are made flesh. As if this weren't enough, everyone thinks you're cute as a speckled pup. As your ear lobes are being nibbled, put some thought into love, obligations, and the interpenetration of human experience.

CANCER Darkness yields to light. A close relationship begins to nourish dreams and appetites you forgot you had. The healthy blush might remind you of a past love, either lost or thrown away. Touching bases, and nothing else, might close the lovely wound. Work may interfere with pleasure. Let it. Labor as if there's going to be a tomorrow and you'd prefer to be on top of it.

LEO A month to remind you how well you work behind the scenes. The best soloists are accomplished side players and, when it comes to giving support, Leos are about as good as it gets. Expect your social life to heat up during a time when you seek peace and solitude. Matters come together nicely by the end of the month. The instrument becomes the music, and the music's fine.

VIRGO The strange things you're feeling are warmth and sunlight. And heavy dollops of sensuality. Being coltish is one thing, behaving like a nimble is another. A bird in the hand's worth two in the bush. Two birds in the hand is more trouble than you can imagine. Mixing love and business makes even less sense. Clarity is the root of virtue, covering your eyes the root of blindness.

LIBRA The winds of change blow gently. Old and new loves are as easily compared as apples and oranges. Weigh your current relationship carefully. In small doses, compromise is a tonic for the soul. In large doses, it's a poison. Balance work and pleasure, unless they're the same thing, and do your level best to get out of town. New faces, new teachings, and new teachers.

SCORPIO A Scorpio sort of month. Aside from small interruptions, your world this month is one vast sex object. In astrological terms, you're one click shy of dangerous: intuitive, penetrating, and darkly powerful. The fun part is the visit by the ghost of Christmas past who rakes your present and future over the coals of your belief system. Accept your own terms and invoke gradual change.

SAGITTARIUS People too cute to run from dog your heels all month. Whatever it is about you, it's hard to resist right now. And, given reasonable restraint, you shouldn't bother, even though the experience could be bruising. A frank talk about sex could lead to a timely systems check of your sensual nature. Celebrate your relationships and live up to the approval of those you care about.

CAPRICORN Feeling our oats, are we? Have fun, flirt often, make love with wild abandon. Unless it involves someone at the office, in which case, you'll be making a bonehead mistake. Notice the peace you feel, the energy given freely by others, the ability to be yourself and yet play in concert. Stand in front of a mirror, wet down the cowlicks of your bad habits, and trim your silly vices.

AQUARIUS A good month to remember that work is always rewarded, often from past connections. Social juices bubble, naughty dreams come true, your will is tested. Expect a pop quiz from the universe. You'll recognize the questions. The answer is to have faith in yourself and what you're doing. When the thirsty come to your door, give them water. When opportunity whistles, pucker up.

PISCES Between wallowing in pleasure and worrying about your career, you're a busy little fish person this month. Invite poetic license, seduce without restraint, pour champagne by candlelight. In business matters, listen to your elders. Those with more winters behind them than you have information you need. You'll never know how big your shadow is until you stand up.
