HOROSCOPES

By Soup Can Sam, staff astrologist

Taurus (April 20–May 20)

Astrologists revealed a thirteenth zodiac symbol with new data from the Curiosity rover. The constellation Ludd is in the shape of a wooden shoe, and those born under its sign share an innate suspicion and resistance to smartphone technology. Dates to be determined, but unlikely to be agreed upon. Stay posted.

Gemini (May 21–June 20) Writing horoscopes is like contemplating your future, except you get to write other people's future and that's pretty darned fun. Word from the soup can wise; take every word I say with a grain of kosher salt (that's a pretty big grain for those who are unfamiliar with their various salts.)

Cancer (June 21–July 22) Speaking of salts, did you know that there is a store on North Mississippi that infuses fancy salt on site? Next time you want to taste pinot noir or saffron from the sea, check it out. Only in Portlandia.

Leo (July 23–Aug. 22) Laughter is the best medicine, and probably the only thing that will cure you after the 20th.

Virgo (Aug. 23–Sept. 22) Scientists announced this month that PDFs appear to have gained some sort of sentience probably related to e-mail. The documents are reproducing wildly in unexpected and inappropriate places. Avoid them through the end of the month just to be safe.

Libra (Sept. 23–Oct. 22) You will be tempted by rancid pickles and sour milk to help you shed the winter weight. But don't do it.

Scorpio (Oct. 23–Nov. 22) Does your couch smell like sour milk? When did your closet start to smell like a locker room? Seriously, do yourself (and your downstairs neighbors) a favor: have a couch bonfire (you know like when certain teams lose basketball championships) and, if in doubt, throw it out!

Sagittarius (Nov. 23–Dec. 23) Love is in the air. Some of it's in the water, too.

Capricorn (Dec. 24–Jan. 19) The animals are super busy this month. Leave them alone. You can play with them in June.

Aquarius (Jan. 20–Feb. 18) Poor water bearer, trying to dodge the flouride battles. Get back to what you do best and go with the flow!

Pisces (Feb. 19–March 20) You do not need so many pairs of shoes.

Aries (March 21–April 19) Don't be a sot.
