A day in the life

Alan chronicled Street Roots vendor Allen Bennett's day as part of the Oregon Project Dayshoot+30, commemorating the 30th anniversary of the original Project Dayshoot which documented in pictures he lives of Oregonians on a single day.

Above, Allen carries his collapsible chair and display stand to his turf. He sells copies of the Street Roots at the Hollywood public library branch. At right, Allen Bennett sells extra copies of Street Roots to Judith Arcana who was the subject of the cover story of the issue for sale.
