

In those we trust

An investigation into the nation's multi-billion-dollar payee system reveals how little oversight really exists for the people it's intended to serve

Page 4

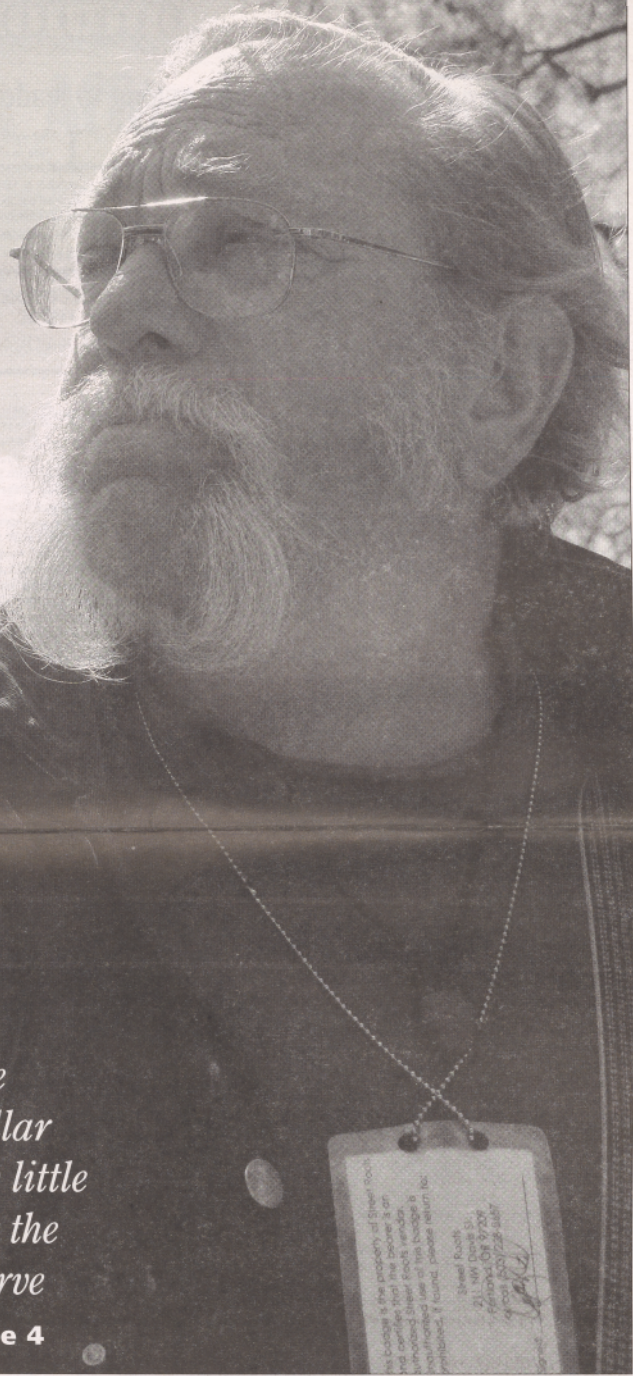

PHOTO BY JOANNE ZUHL

John Munro was a client of Safety Net of Oregon, a representative payee service that managed his money. It closed its doors in April under weight of a federal investigation.

Inside

Candidate Q&A
City Commissioner candidates Dan Saltzman and Nicholas Caleb on affordable housing

Page 3

The making of 'Whitelandia'
A conversation with Portland filmmakers on their controversial project

Page 8

Welfare woes
Oregon Secretary of State Kate Brown responds to troubling audit

Page 10