

street roots

only

$1

WEEKLY JAN. 30-FEB 5, 2015 STREETROOTS.ORG

Language barriers

The Somali community is the third largest immigrant community in Portland Public Schools, but it's still waiting for PPS to find a better way to teach its failing youth Batula Mohamud attended high school for four years and left after finishing her senior year without a diploma. She never had a teacher who spoke her language.

PHOTO BY EMILY GREEN

SR WHAT'S INSIDE

... And get plenty of rest

Legislators learn from Portland on statewide paid sick leave

Page 8

Sheriff reverses course on visits

In-person visits will continue after outcry from public

Page 7

Foot soldiers, past and present

UW professor puts today's movements in a 1960s perspective

Page 10

NEWS

COMMUNITY

CULTURE