

Homes for Oregon's Future

Our success meeting goals as communities and as a state start with having homes to wake up in and return to at night.

HOMES, so our kids get up with a smile on their faces, go to school with a spring in their step and lay down to sleep with a dream in their head.

HOMES, so workers imagine the unimaginable, confront failure with a hearty 'Let's try again,' and leave the world a better place than the one they inherited.

HOMES, so our elderly carry the spirit of a child into old age, make each day productive and pleasant and feel secure in knowing their time on earth was used well.

HOMES to shelter us from the storm and warm and replenish our spirits.

$100,000,000 for Oregon Homes

The Governor has proposed an investment of $100,000,000 into the development of new homes for families living on very low incomes, especially those who may be at risk of homelessness. This is an important first step toward securing Oregon's future success.

$100,000,000 will help us work together to meet the statewide need of 50,000 new places to call home for Oregonians with lower incomes; it will set in motion work to meet other essential housing needs; it will allow us to test new partnerships and approaches across the range of Oregon communities.

$100,000,000 will build homes, providing stability and smoothing the path to individual and family success. It will also create jobs, strengthen communities, and improve our ability to meet state policy goals in education, health, and economic opportunity. Visit OregonHousingAlliance.org to get involved with $100 million for homes and a range of other solutions to make homes more affordable, decrease homelessness and help people avoid foreclosure.
