

Make a great investment today!

We know readers care about helping people. Street Roots believes in the power of community to combat trauma and homelessness. Street Roots vendors are making more money than ever selling the newspaper. That means together we are giving people a hand up!

We know readers want quality news. Street Roots journalism continues to deliver. From investigative reports on the housing crisis to the environment, immigrant rights and criminal justice reform — Street Roots is delivering!

We know readers want social change. Street Roots continues to play a leading role in the community when it comes to shaping and framing the issue of homelessness and housing. Street Roots helped fight for short-term rental tax revenue to go to affordable housing and is a leader in the Welcome Home Coalition, a coalition of 120 organizations working for more affordable housing.

This spring when you give $50 or more to Street Roots you will receive a free "Housing is a Human Right" T-shirt (shown below), thanks to our partners at Frank Creative & Grafletics.

Any donation you give, including signing up to be a monthly giver, goes directly to Street Roots programs.

Your individual support allows Street Roots to be independent in our journalism, advocacy and giving people a hand up. Please give a donation today to help keep Street Roots strong!
