

street roots

only $1

WEEKLY MAY 25-31, 2018 NEWS.STREETROOTS.ORG

First, do no harm

Journalist Travis Lupick's new book, 'Fighting for Space,' is about Vancouver, B.C.'s, grassroots movement that saved countless lives and changed how Canadians look at addiction

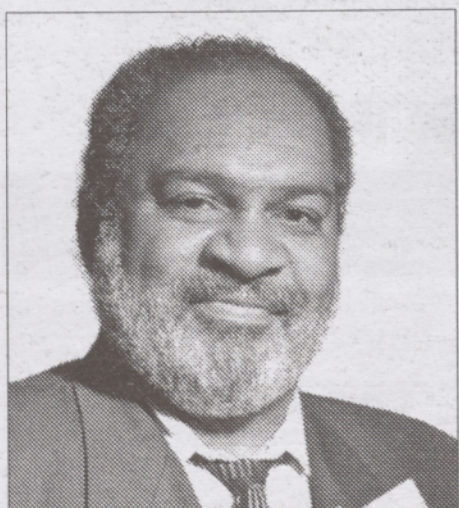

PHOTO COURTESY OF ARSENAL PULP PRESS

"Where there's a demand, organized crime will rise to meet that demand with supply. The economics around fentanyl are astoundingly strong."

— TRAVIS LUPICK

SR

WHAT'S INSIDE

Remembering George Mayes

Friends and family reflect on the impact this former vendor had on their lives

Page 7

IN MEMORIAM

Safe passage

To thwart kidnappers, parents in one Argentine town took safety into their own hands

Page 8

CULTURE

Chris Van Dam

"As long as there's one person who believes in me, I can't give up."

Page 6

VENDORS